Trade Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 1972 trade deficit climbed over the $2 billion mark last month, as the value of imports exceeded exports by the second highest amount on record, the Commerce Department said Friday.

In only four months, the nation managed to exceed last year's trade deficit of $2 billion. For January through April the deficit was $2.2 billion.

For April alone, the department said, the value of imports exceeded exports by $699.4 million, a figure topped only by last October's $821.4 million.

In 12 of the last 13 months the nation has turned in a deficit in its merchandise trade balance, and last year's deficit was the first since 1968.

A trade deficit puts additional pressure on the strength of the dollar overseas since it means that more U.S. money is flowing out of the country and it reflects on the competitiveness of American industry with other countries.

But, as far as consumers are concerned, a trade deficit is not necessarily bad, since it means a wider choice of goods to choose from.

In April, exports actually declined from the March level by 3.4 per cent, largely because not as many jumbo jets were shipped out as in March.

The drop in exports, however, was combined with only a small 0.3 per cent decline in imports.

A Commerce Department official said the main reason for the continued deficit is that the American economy is expanding fast, making it a good market for imports, while the economies of other countries are still sluggish, making them relatively poor markets for American goods.

"Until foreign economies really turn around, it's going to be awhile before we get a substantial increase in exports," the official said.

Holiday Traffic

Millions of Americans loaded their automobiles with families and fun gear Friday night and rolled out on the highways to cram a minivacation into the first warm weather long weekend of 1972.

By tradition Memorial Day has been the date for official openings of the big summer hotels and of small family owned or rented cottages and cabins that line the shores of lakes, rivers and oceans.

Under the old calendar the holiday would have fallen on Tuesday. But with the change of some holiday observances to provide more three-day weekends Monday is the new red letter day for the holiday that originated with decorating graves of Civil War dead.

Because of the holiday traffic volume the National Safety Council estimated that between 530 and 630 persons might die in motor vehicle accidents during the weekend.

The period covered by the estimate is the 78 hours between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday, May 29.

Last year, also a Saturday, Sunday-Monday observance, The Associated Press counted 553 deaths.

The highest traffic toll for a three-day observance of Memorial Day was 597 in 1969. The highest for any three-day warm weather holiday was 688 at Labor Day of 1968.

Wallace Condition

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace underwent therapy for his paralyzed legs Friday and for the first time sat briefly in a straight-back chair as doctors said he continues to improve from his bullet wounds.

But for the second straight day doctors at Holy Cross Hospital advised against newsmen visiting Wallace's bedside. They said it would be too tiring.

Doctors said there has been a marked overall improvement with the drainage of two abscessed wounds.

"The governor is now much more comfortable with a marked reduction in abdominal discomfort," a medical report said.

On Thursday doctors made an incision in the left side of the abdomen where one bullet had been removed to drain an accumulation of pus. Another pocket of abscess drained by itself through stitches which had been made in surgery last week after the governor was shot.

Elvin Stanton, a Wallace press aide, said the governor's spirits seemed "real good. I don't think he is feeling as much pain and this is reflected in his spirits, but certainly I think he is feeling some pain."

Generally, Stanton said, "everything seems to be stable and routine."

Doctors say the neurologic condition of Wallace's legs remains unchanged.

Nixon's Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has accumulated enough Republican National Convention delegates to assure his nomination or a second term in the White House.

The Associated Press poll of convention delegates showed Friday that at least 686 Nixon delegates have been elected in primaries or state caucuses and conventions.

It takes 674 delegates to win the GOP presidential nomination at the Republican National Convention which opens in Miami Beach Aug. 21.

Poling of recently elected delegates pushed Nixon over the top. He was expected to pick up more from those currently counted as uncommitted as the polling continues.

In the Democratic delegate poll Sen. George S. McGovern leads with 497½ delegates votes. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has 323, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey 295½ and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie 160. It takes 1,509 votes for the Democratic nomination.

Nixon is the only Republican to win any convention delegates although he has been opposed by Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., and Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio.

McCloskey withdrew after taking 20 per cent of the Republican vote in the March 7 New Hampshire primary. Ashbrook has continued to campaign but has not dented Nixon's large majorities.

Give Up Trade Pact Efforts Reach Arms Curb Accord

Braun Leaves Space Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Werner von Braun, pioneer rocket expert, announced Friday he is resigning from the U.S. space agency to join private industry.

Starting July 1 Von Braun will become a vice president for engineering at Fairchild Industries, which is developing advanced scientific satellites for launch in 1973 and 1975.

He retires from a desk job brainstorming space buses and moon cities for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, where his title is deputy associate administrator for planning.

The reasons for his departure aren't clear. He said in a brief printed statement that he wants to "help implement some space projects I feel are of particular importance," but didn't say what they were.

A spokesman at Fairchild's headquarters in Germantown, Md., said that the satellite program is part of the reason he is joining the firm but not all of it.

Von Braun, born 60 years ago in Wirsitz, Germany, is a giant in the history of military and peacetime rockets.

While still a young student four decades ago he shot a rocket more than a mile into the air. Before his 33rd birthday he had developed the V2 rocket bomb for Hitler. At the end of World War II he evaded capture by the Soviet Union and came to the United States, where he became a citizen. In this country he built military rockets and later the Saturn moon rocket.

When the Saturn project ended two years ago, Von Braun left his laboratories at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., and came to Washington.

His job, simply put, was to point out directions for future American space exploration. He has said he expects to walk on the moon himself in another decade, when he will be about 70. He has predicted that space shuttles, such as the one endorsed earlier this year by President Nixon, will fly humans into space with as little fuss as jetliners now fly them between cities. Before the year 2001, he says, the first baby will be born in a future moon colony.

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet Leaders forged at the summit Friday a historic agreement to curb the superpower nuclear missile race, but abandoned efforts to negotiate at the Kremlin a broad trade agreement.

The first-ever accord to limit the stockpiles of both offensive and defensive strategic weapons was agreed upon, spokesmen said, at the eighth meeting of Nixon and Soviet leaders since he became on Monday the first American president ever to set foot in the Soviet capital.

The two-step agreement was to be signed after President and Mrs. Nixon gave a banquet for the Kremlin's hierarchy—Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. Details of the pact were withheld until then.

The arms agreement left Vietnam, the Middle East and Europe as the crucial unsettled international problems to be discussed in the remaining three days of the summit.

But the missile curb pact meant Nixon could return home in an election year with a major foreign policy feather in his hat.

U.S. spokesman Ronald L. Ziegler announced the strategic arms limitation agreement after Nixon met for 2½ hours in the Kremlin with the top three Soviet leaders.

At about the same time, spokesmen disclosed that the leaders had agreed to establish a joint U.S.-Soviet commercial commission to continue difficult and complex trade negotiations.

Thus, the heads of the world's two most prosperous nations gave up an attempt to work out in summit talks the details of a comprehensive package to expand trade and commercial relations between their countries.

As the drive for agreement on the arms limitation pact was in its final hours, informants reported it shaped up this way: A treaty requiring Senate confirmation would limit to 300 the number of defensive antiballistic missile launchers for each nation. These launchers could be divided among two sites.

One of the U.S. sites would be near Grand Forks, N.D., to protect the Minuteman III ICBM launching facility there. The (Turn To Page Seven) (See "Arms Curb")

Two Germanies Take Step, Sign First Postwar Treaty

BERLIN (AP) — East and West Germany took a long stride toward normalized relations Friday, signing the first state treaty ever initiated by the divided Germans since they became rivals in the postwar era.

Afterward the two chief negotiators strongly hinted they would take up cessation of shootings along the Berlin Wall and the minefields on the inner German dividing line in a next round of negotiations.

West German State Secretary Egon Bahr and his East German counterpart Michael Kohl signed the first all-German treaty regulating traffic by road, rail and waterways inside the divided country.

Attached to the treaty was a letter from East Germany promising visiting rights to West Germans. The letter said East Germany for the first time would allow its people to visit the west in emergency cases such as births, deaths and illnesses. East Germany also promised to give West German citizens 30 visiting days a year in the Communist state.

There was speculation in East Berlin that East Germany wanted West German guarantees against refugee flight as a condition for liberalized application of the promised freedom to visit. To halt defections, the communists built the Berlin wall in 1961 and mined the East-West German frontier with order to guards to shoot to kill.

Kohl announced he and Bahr would meet June 15 to begin talks about a general treaty covering all phases of life among the Germans.

He emphasized that such a treaty would have to be on the basis of international norms between equal and independently sovereign partners. Bahr avoided giving direct recognition to East Germany in the traffic accord which takes effect after confirmation by the two parliaments.

Repeated Red Attacks Upon Kontum Repulsed

SAIGON (AP)—The defenders of Kontum fought off a second day of North Vietnamese attacks Friday, claiming a dozen tanks knocked out and an estimated 1,000 enemy troops killed or pushed back.

Associated Press correspondent David J. Paine reported from the highland headquarters city of Pleiku that shortly before dusk government troops were advancing on pockets of enemy still entrenched on the outskirts of Kontum, the provincial capital in the central highlands.

American military advisers in Kontum described the situation as under control and said the enemy had been contained, Paine reported. The North Vietnamese first penetrated the city early Thursday, pounded it with some 800 rounds of rockets and artillery later in the day and strengthened their attack force Friday.

Perhaps two battalions of North Vietnamese, many of them in South Vietnamese uniforms, infiltrated the city and attacked at dawn with tank fire backing them up.

American sources said 12 enemy tanks were destroyed by U.S. wire-guided missiles, government artillery and hand-carried, single-shot light antitank weapons.

Three of the tanks, the sources said, were U.S.-built M41s captured from government troops by the North Vietnamese early in the day.

U.S. forces now are using special helicopters and jeeps armed with armor-piercing missiles to combat the recent influx of tanks for use in the North Vietnamese offensive.

In the air war, American warplanes pounded the Haiphong area for the third successive day in what was disclosed as a campaign to cut the port city off from the rest of North Vietnam.

The U.S. Command said Navy pilots from the carrier Midway knocked out two major highway bridges just outside Haiphong Thursday, following by 24 hours a raid that destroyed a nearby highway and railroad bridge.

The pilots are reported continuing attacks on industrial plants and other bridges in nearly 300 strikes carried out Thursday but not reported until Friday.

Another plane, a Navy A-1 Skyhawk, was reported as the latest raid and the listed as missing. Three men have been reported missing and 27 jets lost since the start of the North offensive.

Depolluting Fuel Additive Tested

As things stand now, by the 1975 model year, automobile manufacturers must produce cars which emit 90 per cent less hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide than 1970 model cars.

They have to continue doing it for at least 50,000 miles of normal driving.

Yet even if this goal is reached—and the industry is still trying to convince the government that it won't be reached so soon—there will still be millions of pre-1975 cars on the road for years to come.

What this country needs is some genius who can come up with an additive or something that you could dump in gasoline to cut pollution right now. Something that would work in diesel fuel, too. And as long as we're dreaming, something that would increase gas mileage and boost engine power while it worked.

Farfetched? A recently completed two-year study by the Air Pollution Test Facility at the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA), indicates that a new fuel additive — CV-100 — may be in the nature of just such a breakthrough.

The study was conducted by Albert F. Bush, professor of engineering at UCLA, with his associates John P. Burke and Richard R. Carlson. They claim that when used with conventional leaded gasoline, the additive reduced both carbon monoxide in the exhaust and hydrocarbon emissions by as much as 50 per cent. At the same time, fuel economy was increased by 10 to 15 per cent.

Not only was mileage improved, states the report, but "lower-octane rated fuels will perform even better than the high octane fuels without CV-100. In both cases, the cost of the additive is offset by the lower cost of the fuel."

The additive, not to be confused with the widely advertised detergent-type additives used in many gasolines today, can be added to all liquid hydrocarbon fuels, from gasoline to diesel fuels and even heavy bunker grades of oil.

In all cases, the additive provides more efficient combustion, which results in more power, better mileage and reduced emission of unburned or partially burned fuel.

The offensive odor of diesel fuel is greatly reduced. The same is true when the additive is used with stationary fuel oil burners.

Or so — to repeat — claim the researchers at UCLA.

The additive is now being test-marketed to large fleet owners in the United States and Canada and is also being tested by major petroleum companies.

No Cold Cure In Sight

Lately that piece of medical pie in the sky known as the "cure for the common cold" has seemed more remote than it used to. Years ago it was common to read that some research team was on the verge of the great discovery, the thought being that it was only a matter of time until the sneezes, snuffles, hacking, stuffy head and all the rest of it would be things of memory. There hasn't been so much of that kind of talk in recent times.

There is good reason for this, as the National Institute of Health stresses in the disclosure that it has just about given up hope of finding a cold vaccine. Reduced to its simplest terms, the reason is that the common cold has a most uncommon number of causes. Scientists have pinpointed 113 cold-inducing viruses, and some think scores of additional ones are yet undiscovered.

This makes it awkward when one sets out to devise a vaccine, which would have to contain killed or deactivated viruses of each type. With more than 100 known, the combination could not be administered even in any reasonably small number of injections, let alone in one.

Little immediate hope, then, for that elusive "cure for the common cold." Meanwhile, all but those fortunate souls who never catch cold will just have to suffer from time to time and keep attuned for news of a giant forward step in vaccine technology.

Communist Ideology Taking Beating In Summit

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
The dogma of Marx, Lenin and Stalin is taking something of a beating in the summit of Soviet leaders with President Nixon.

The leaders of the Politburo are beginning, it would appear, to appreciate the ways of capitalism. They are eager to expand trade with the United States within a capitalist credit framework. They want collaboration in science and technology. They want cooperation in the field of environmental protection. All this is quite anti-

Marxist.

Take the agreement to collaborate on environmental protection. According to Marxist-Leninist dogma, natural resources are the property of everybody to be used at will by the state in the name of the people. Pollution should be impossible in a Marxist-Socialist state. It should be regarded as a product of an exploitative capitalist system.

But in the last decade or so the facts of life caught up with the Soviet Union as with all industrialized countries. The leaders are now about to set out to do what a prominent dissident urged four years ago—in an underground pamphlet.

The 1968 pamphlet of A.D. Sakharov, a physicist, said the two superpowers, rather than spend their wealth on weapons of mass destruction, might better seek ways to cooperate in saving the world from pollution and avoiding such situations as "the sadly celebrated problem" of Lake Baikal, which was being poisoned by industrial waste.

"Otherwise," Sakharov wrote, "the U.S.S.R. poisons the United States with its wastes while the United States poisons the U.S.S.R. with its."

If ideology might interfere with a program clearly in the Soviet interest, he Politburo seems perfectly capable of ignoring ideology. There is much to be done on an international scale in research and development of programs that can attack poisoned air and water, eroded lands and all the other plagues of a modern world's industrial society. Russia's problems in this department are less than America's, but they are increasing swiftly.

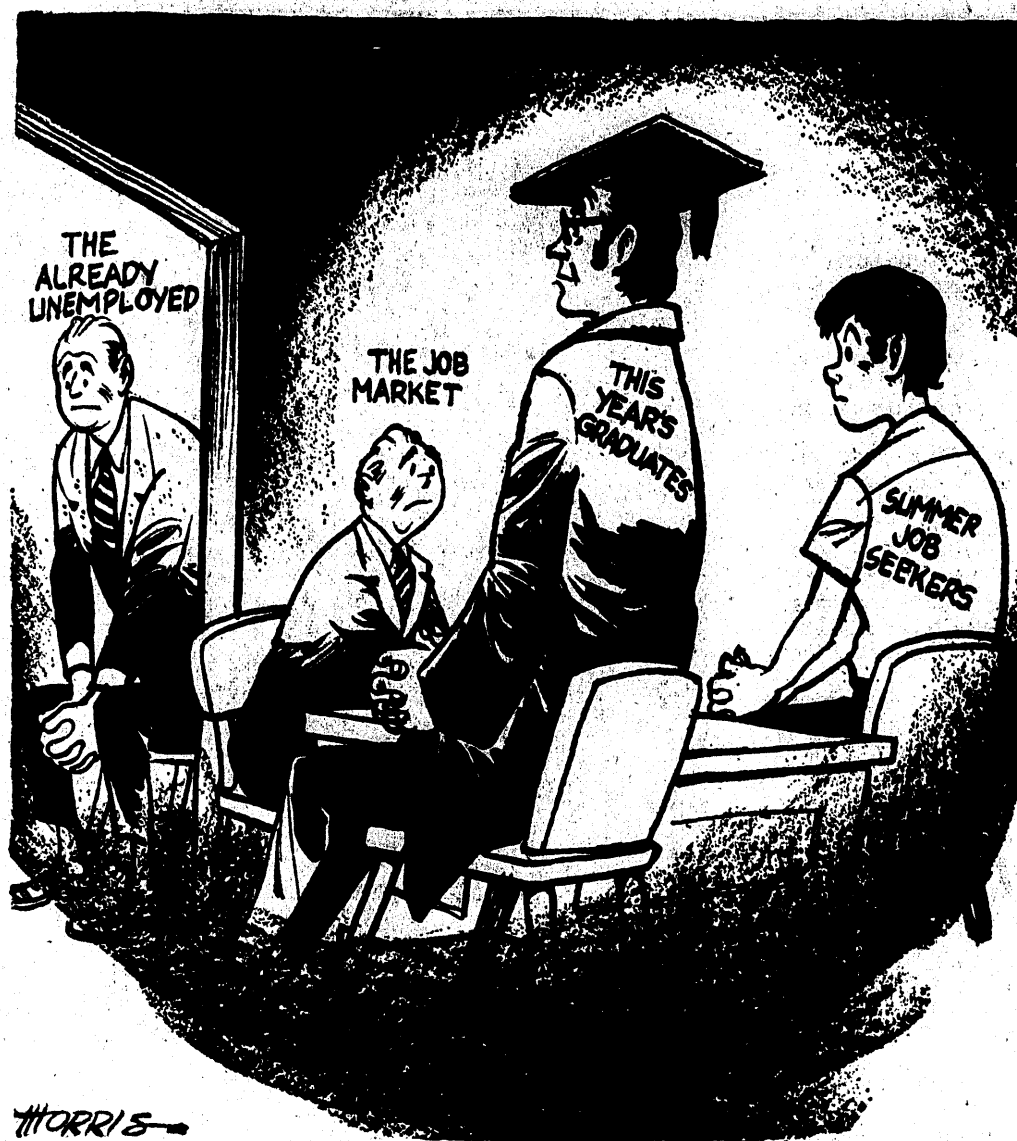

In the case of cybernetics, or computer science, the Communists applied it to military and space technology but until lately use in the consumer economy would have been equated with some sort of capitalist quackery.

Now the Politburo reaches eagerly for a scientific-technological accord with the chief capitalist nation. There is little doubt that it would like access to U.S. computer technology in the consumer field, where the Russians have made a slow start and lag behind the West.

The Soviet leaders would not allow any East European nation to go as far as Moscow is going with the United States. When Czechoslovakia attempted an opening to the West in similar style, Czechoslovakia was clobbered by Soviet might.

It is a question of might making right. The behavior of the Politburo at this summit demonstrates once again how the men who run the Communist superpower can bend and even ignore ideology to suit the needs of Soviet national interests. The interests of world revolution still occupy a place in Kremlin thinking, but the interests of world revolution ear wait.

Three Does Make A Crowd!

Washington

System, Planning Behind Offensive

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—What hasn't been reported widely is the systematic North Vietnamese organization that precedes and follows its military attacks in the South.

1. First, in newly captured areas, even before a local occupation government is set up, large numbers of suspects are rounded up and screened "most thoroughly and systematically," refugees and prisoners report, by a series of panels composed of underground Communist cadre who have surfaced for the occasion.

The screenings aim at discovering citizens with strong anti-Communist leanings, and all local officials, police and military deserters who have cast off whatever uniforms or insignia they had and now say they are ordinary citizens. The same men and women may be rounded up again and again to appear before different screening boards.

Some public executions have been reported. After screening, others in the accused groups have been marched away to unknown locations.

2. Then, from the general population, the able-bodied 15-through-45-year-olds are rounded up, formed into work battalions for the North Vietnamese armies and the Communist political-economic officials.

Some of the able-bodied reportedly are recruited for armed service, though the data on this are less clear.

3. Much of the remaining population—the aged, the infirm, women and children—are urged to join the refugee groups marching South and to seek food and shelter from the defending South Vietnamese forces, thus to put a severe strain on the available food, clothing, shelter and administrative capabilities of the defenders.

This also makes available more of the captured local food, shelter and other supplies for the North Vietnamese attackers.

4. Communist cadre and guerrilla operatives disguise themselves as refugees, join the refugee throngs fleeing to Hue and other major North Vietnamese objectives. Their job—to weaken the cities within as Hanoi's armies attack from without.

The aim, as has been demonstrated in several instances of late, is to arrange for the towns and cities to virtually collapse from within.

These infiltrators organize guerrilla units, sabotage government, military and economic operations and spread rumors. The feeling among some refugees is that the propaganda of these infiltrated agents has been ably designed.

One particularly effective line is the rumor that there's no use fighting anyway because President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai of China have made a deal whereby the two northern provinces of South Vietnam will be turned over to the North Vietnamese. Thus everything is settled. So why die over nothing.

5. Meanwhile, throughout South Vietnam, even outside the battle zones, there has been a steady movement of Communist cadre from the countryside into the cities and towns. This reverses the flow of underground cadre from the cities and towns to countryside which followed the unsuccessful Tet 1968 and August, 1968, offensives.

Some of these infiltrators have been busy killing police and making terror attacks on officials, fishing and farm cooperative officers and teachers. But most, apparently, are lying low, making plans for some type of coordinated assault at Hanoi's signal.

In the countryside outside the war zone, local groups of Communist guerrillas have been making a widely dispersed series of probing attacks on local villages, hamlets and outposts, testing strengths and presumably reporting on local capabilities. This again, presumably, is in preparation for some future coordinated effort.

Ann Landers:

Offers Suggestions For Job-Hunters

Dear Ann Landers: I work in the personnel office of a small company and am writing in the hope that you will print my letter before graduation. I have some advice for individuals who will be looking for employment. It is amazing how many people come in here ill-prepared. Here are some suggestions which might make the difference between getting the job and not getting it.

1. Bring something to write with — preferably a pen. If your handwriting is poor, print.

2. Answer all questions to the best of your ability. The firm, no matter how large or small, asks questions for a reason.

3. Have your social security number with you and —

4. If you are a male, your selective service number.

5. Be able to list the schools you've attended (starting with elementary) and the dates of attendance.

6. Be prepared to trace your employment record, including beginning dates and quitting dates, names of employers, location, positions held and salary.

7. Be prepared to list at least three people (besides employers) who will give character references. Know their addresses and telephone numbers.

I have been in a position to observe a great deal of embarrassment and disappointment because people couldn't meet the simple requirements listed above. The candidate who has to go home and come back with facts and figures is going to lose out to one who has the information at his fingertips.

I've observed, too, Ann, that the person who is prepared has an air of confidence that makes a good first impression. — Gainesville

Dear Gainesville: (What an appropriate signature!) And now I'd like to add a suggestion of my own.

I'm aware that many capable, bright young people wear their hair long, have beards and dress non-establishment. I am also aware that there are laws forbidding discrimination against a job candidate because he has long hair and a beard. But if an employer doesn't like your looks, the chances of being hired are sharply reduced. So if you really want the job, don't apply for it with a chip on your shoulder the size of a gang-plank.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm upset and can't think straight. Just say "go" — or "don't go."

A good friend phoned last night to say she and her sister had just finished addressing the invitations to her wedding. They had miscalculated somehow and were six invitations short. She asked if I would feel hurt if I didn't receive an engraved invitation, but a note instead. I said, "Of course not." Now my mother tells me I am crazy — that I should not go to the wedding because it is plain that my friend considers me less important than the other guests. What do you say? I really want to go, Ann. — Bon Bon

Dear Bon: I say go. The bride is obviously in a spot and she is counting on her closest friends to understand. Don't let her down.

Confidential to Miserable, Unhappy and Insignificant: Try to be pleasant and uncomplaining. Thirteen is a horrible age for a girl who has a sister sixteen. I promise that life will be brighter when you are sixteen and she is nineteen.

SATURDAY, MAY 27—Born today, you are by nature an optimist—which may well be an excellent thing for your general well-being, for life will not always treat you well and there will be times when your sense of optimism is the only support you have. For the most part, however, your habit of looking on the bright side will be completely justified, for there will be far more joy in your life than misery, far more excitement than boredom, far more to take your interest than to dull the edge of your enthusiasm.

One who demands a great deal of himself where talents and capabilities are concerned, you have no patience with illness or depressed moods or any of those things which result in your hard-headedness, your estimation of other people, and it might be wise for you to remember that most illness and most moods are neither self-induced nor catered to.

You know how to harness your enthusiasms and interests so that they work to gain you needed advantages. Your ability to know when and how other people can be of service to you should be especially valuable in your early maturity when you are struggling to get a career off the ground; later on you will want to return the favors by helping others younger and less experienced.

NEW YORK (AP) — Money isn't everything, but don't try selling that routine to the various financial institutions who are now shooting it out in every corner of America.

They're not getting along; in fact, they're popping off at each other, and it's all about money.

The scenario for "The Shoot-out at Money Gulch" has a cast of thousands and involves many billions of dollars. Every state in the Union is involved and so is the federal government.

Included in the cast are 14,000 commercial banks, 6,000 savings and loan associations, 490 mutual savings banks and, to some extent, more than 20,000 credit unions. One item of contention is $473 billion in savings.

And the plot: The thrift institutions, that is, the savings and loan associations and the mutual savings banks, are strictly restricted in the types of services they offer. The commercial, or full service banks, have wide privileges. The others want to share in them.

Specifically, the S&Ls and mutual banks—and even, it is sometimes suggested, the credit unions—want the right to offer checking accounts and even to develop into full service family finance centers.

The full service banks don't want that kind of competition. They prefer to see the S&Ls and mutuals restrict themselves to accepting savings and then investing those savings mainly in home mortgage loans.

While the showdown is occurring throughout the country on the state level, the most significant aspect of the competition right now is the Hunt Commission Report, headed by Reed Hunt, a retired corporate executive.

In the spring of 1970 President Nixon appointed a special Commission on Financial Structure and Regulation and charged it with "reviewing and studying the structure, operation and regulation of the private financial institutions."

The 121-page report presented just before last Christmas included 89 recommendations, among them: new powers for the thrift institutions, a phase-out of interest-rate ceilings, a uniform tax formula for all institutions that offer checking accounts.

Moreover, it recommended that S&Ls and mutuals be allowed to make secured and unsecured consumer loans in amounts not to aggregate in excess of 10 per cent of total assets.

The next major move on the national level is expected to come sometime later this year when the President is expected to send to Congress his own recommendations, based partly on the Hunt report.

Whether the President follows the commission recommendations is still in doubt, however. The battle is far from settled; the shooting continues.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dow Jones industrial average raised its high close for the year another notch Friday, despite slackened trading prior to the Memorial Day weekend.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues finished the day up 2.18 at 971.25, which erased the new 1972 high close set Thursday. The previous high close was 975.14 on Dec. 19, 1968, and the record high close for the blue-chip indicator was 995.15 on Feb. 9, 1966.

Despite the modest gain, the market was characterized by a dullness that is normal for a session preceding a three-day weekend.

Trading on the New York Stock Exchange fell to 15.73 million shares from Thursday's 16.48 million. Of the 1,774 issues traded, 780 advanced and 637 declined.

Most stock categories were mixed with a number of key issues unchanged for the session. Several oil stocks, however, posted good gains.

Atlantic Richfield, which closed down 1/4 to 61 1/2, was the Big Board's most actively traded issue. A block of 500,000 shares at 61 1/2 accounted for virtually all of the stock's volume—a total of 532,600 shares.

A total of 124 blocks of 10,000 shares or more were traded on the Big Board, compared with a revised total of 136 such blocks Thursday.

Among other indices, the New York Stock Exchange index of more than 1,300 common stocks was up .10 to 61.38. On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index rose .04 to 27.94, as 3.83 million shares changed hands. Volume Thursday had been 4.36 million. Of the 1,199 Amex issues traded, gainers led losers, 476 to 414.

THERE'S A RUMOR SPREADING ABOUT PIZZA HUT.

Maybe you've already heard it. The rumor that Pizza Hut is a little nicer than other pizza houses. That the pizzas are a little tastier. That the atmosphere is a little more fun.

And you've thought to yourself, "Aha! A perhaps unfounded rumor! I shall test its veracity the next time I can fit it into my busy schedule." But you never have fit it into your busy schedule.

Well, my friend, dilly-dally no longer. Because every day you don't test the Pizza Hut rumor is a day without the fresh-crusted, thick-cheesed, extra-saucy pizza. And without huge hot or cold Pizza Hut Sandwich Supremes. And without garden fresh salads and all sorts of hot and cold beverages. And an atmosphere more like a big cozy den than a restaurant.

But you don't have to take our word for it. You'll never know the truth about Pizza Hut unless you test it.

WSCS NEWS NOTES

The WSCS of Concord United Methodist church met May 18 at the home of Mrs. Charles Elliott with assistant hostesses, Mrs. Nellie Goodpasture and Mrs. Paul Hess. Eighteen members and two guests, Letha Hill and the Rev. Delmar Redmon, responded to roll.

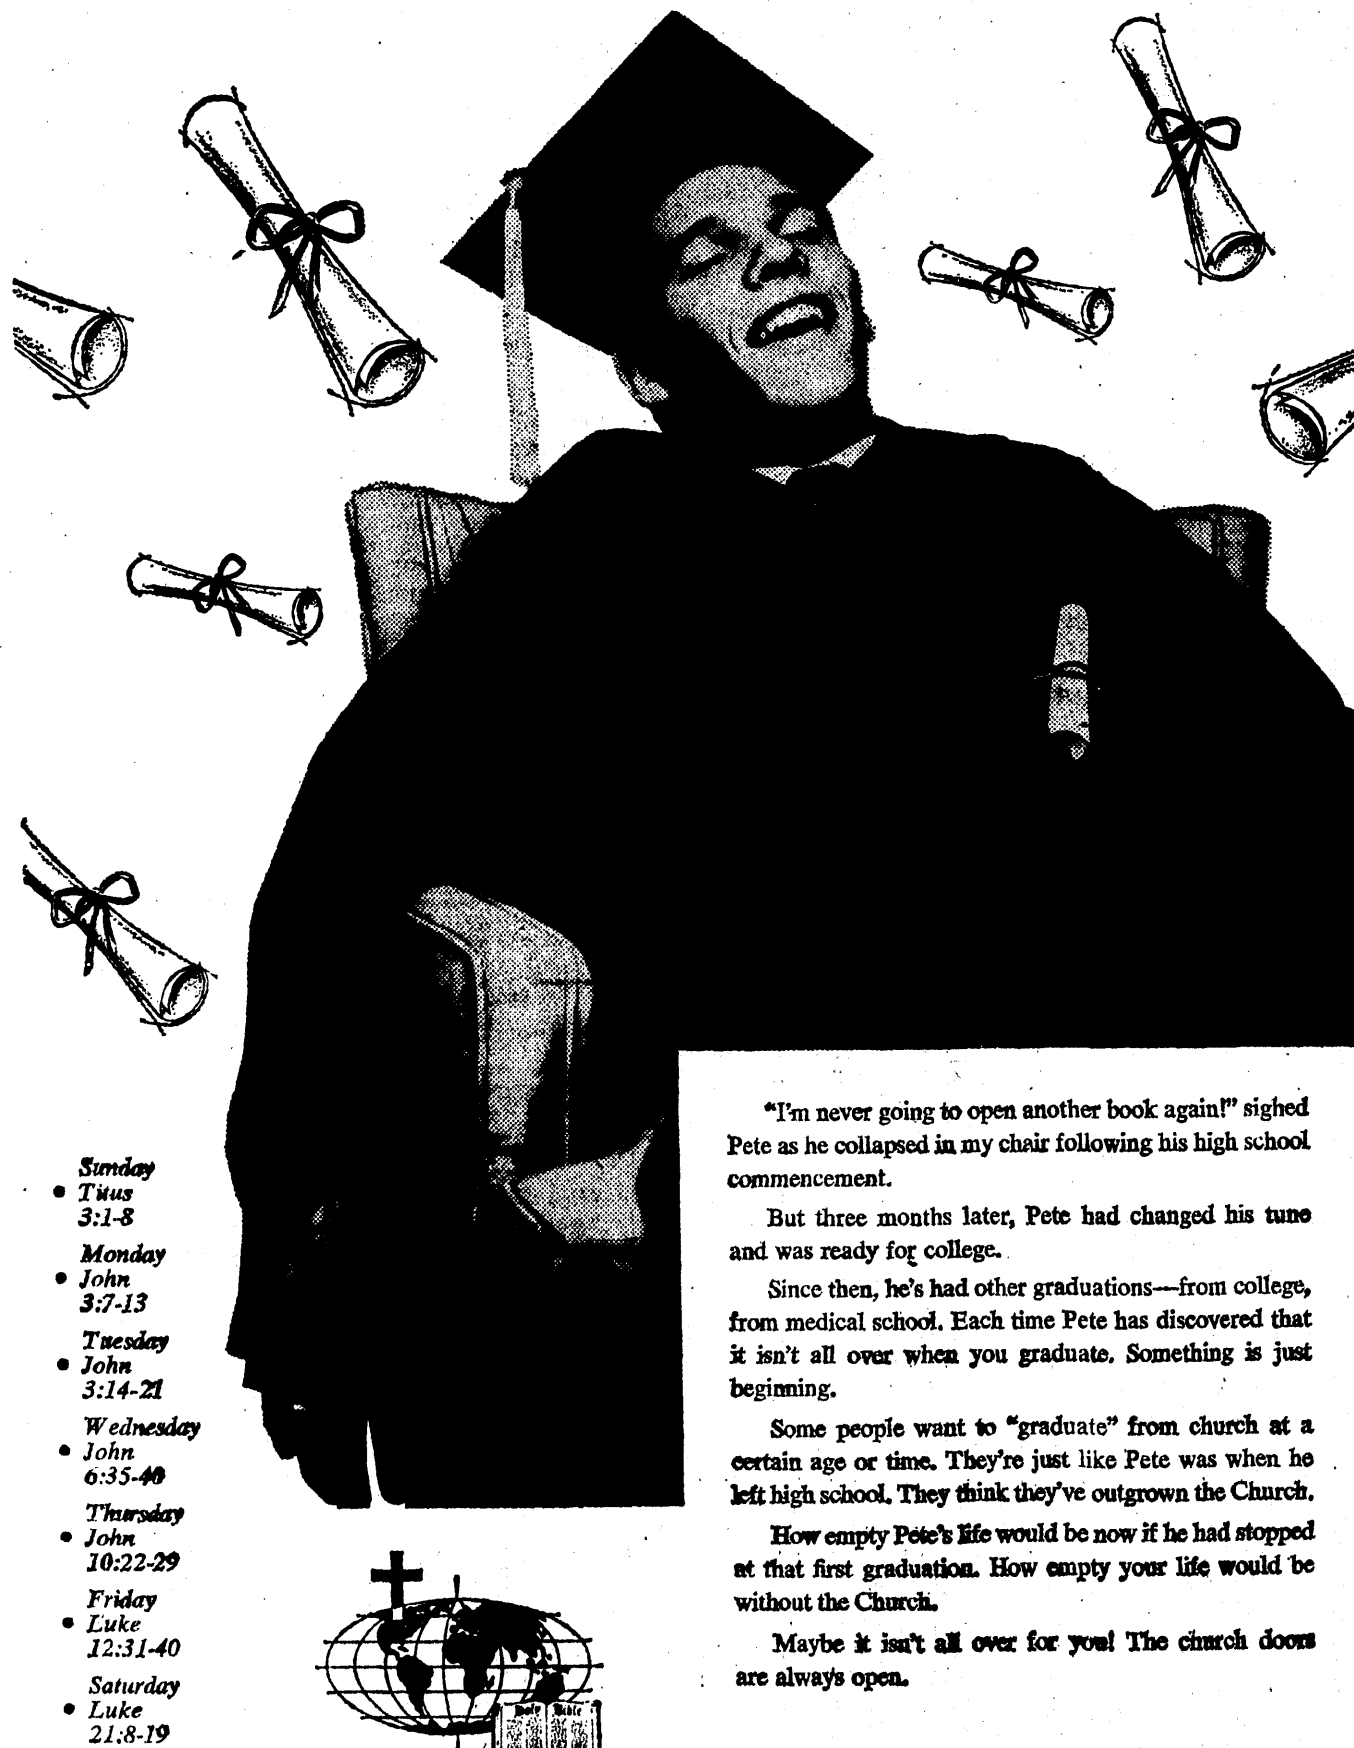

President Mrs. Howard Hess was in charge and opened the session with a Mother's Day poem. Mrs. Laura Atz offered prayer and Rev. Redmon gave a brief description of the structure of the general conference. Thirty-seven sick calls were reported. Mrs. Hess and Mrs. Elliott gave an account of the Retreat which they attended.

The secretary's report was presented by Mrs. Walter Standley and treasurer's report by Mrs. Robert Kircher. Chairmen gave summations of their committees' activities and correspondence was read. Mrs. Ray Nickel related an article from Response magazine and Mrs. Elliott offered the spiritual thought.

Benediction was repeated at the close. Delicious refreshments were served during the social hour. The June meeting will be hosted at the home of Mrs. Robert Nickel, assisted by Mrs. Charlotte Moss and Mrs. Carl Hoots. Mrs. Arthur Yeck will furnish the program.

Pressuring Polluters DETROIT (UPI)—The county of Wayne, which includes Detroit, filed 248 court cases against alleged violators of the county's air pollution control regulation in 1971 — the highest number in any one year. This year, says the director of the Air Pollution Control Division, inspectors will be "far less tolerant" of so-called accidental emissions.

Just a beginning

"I'm never going to open another book again!" sighed Pete as he collapsed in my chair following his high school commencement.

But three months later, Pete had changed his tune and was ready for college.

Since then, he's had other graduations—from college, from medical school. Each time Pete has discovered that it isn't all over when you graduate. Something is just beginning.

Some people want to "graduate" from church at a certain age or time. They're just like Pete was when he left high school. They think they've outgrown the Church.

How empty Pete's life would be now if he had stopped at that first graduation. How empty your life would be without the Church.

Maybe it isn't all over for you! The church doors are always open.

Removing Rubber Gloves Is Easier In Cold Water

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY — For years I lived with the frustration of removing steamy rubber gloves after washing dishes in hot water. I usually ended up with ripping them by pulling too hard or with them inside-out after removal. Recently I discovered that by holding my hands under the cold water for just a few seconds before removing the gloves made them slip off without any trouble. I do hope this helps other busy homemakers. — MRS. S. O.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I would like some ideas from the readers on how to pack my house plants for a 300-mile move. Thanks. — MRS. R. S.
DEAR POLLY — My Pet Neeve is with manufacturers who do not put the proper instructions for the use of their products on the packages. My mother bought a package of three star appliques to use to hide a mend in a skirt but the package had no directions whatsoever. We did not know whether or not we should lick them, wet them, iron them on or what. We did iron them on and they stuck until the skirt was worn the first time, then all the stars fell off. We are still wondering how this should have been done. If I win a Polly Dollar I will buy another applique but will be very sure to get some instructions. — PATTI

DEAR POLLY AND R. J. S. — I put separating zippers in hand-knit sweaters professionally. I buy a zipper about one-inch shorter than the length of the front of the sweater and one-inch wide grosgrain ribbon which I first shrink in hot water. Hand-whip the ribbon down each side of the front, leaving the top ends open. Baste the zipper in place and slip the top ends of the zipper twill into the open ends of the ribbon. Hand-sew on with a back-stitch or machine-stitch if you prefer and about 3-16th inch back from the front edge, then slip-stitch the edge of the zipper twill to the grosgrain ribbon. This method will launder or dry clean and never catch in the zipper teeth. — MARIE

Conversational Skill Lies In Dozen Or So Key Remarks

Boyle Column
NEW YORK (AP) — So you want to be a good conversationalist?
But you don't have time to memorize a thousand sparkling quotations or read a lot of heavy books so you'll be really well informed?
So what? What does being witty or knowledgeable have to do with being a good conversationalist?
The man who impresses you most with his speaking ability isn't the one who tells you something new. No, it's the one who tells you what you want to hear who sticks in your memory.
The backbone of any real conversational skill lies in probably a dozen or so key remarks you can make which give reassurance to people in most situations and which bolster their own secret high opinion of themselves. Just memorize the following statements, and use them as often as you can to as many people as possible:
"You've been a kind of hero to me in a way for a long time, but I never thought you were so young."

"From the way you're built, I'd judge you must have played a little football in your time—and not so many years ago at that."
"When you know you've got the right on your side, like you do, the battle is half won."
"Well, some people are just born photogenic, and some aren't. You're one of the lucky ones."
"You look like you've been taking off weight lately. What's your secret?"
"The trouble with you is that you're too generous for your own good. Here, let me get this round."
"I can't think of anyone else who could hold up under the strain like you do. You must be made of iron."
"Of course, they're all pretty, but I'd say this one is the best looker of the lot—the one that has your eyes and that same delightful little crinkle around the mouth."

"Well, I'll say one thing about you—you never go off half-cocked. When you open your mouth, you make real sense."
"I should think that a wife lucky enough to have you for a husband really couldn't find much in her life to complain about."
"Why should they expect you to do the thinking for everybody?"
Yes, it is only by telling people what they want to hear that you can gain a name as a good conversationalist, one people are always glad to talk to. If you try to tell them anything else, they not only won't listen—they'll spread the word that you're one of the biggest-mouthed bores of all time.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Loses Weight On Personal Diet

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have been reading various articles on women with weight problems. I am in my 50s and six months ago I weighed 215 pounds. I thought nothing of it and just kept right on eating. An accident caused me to go to the doctor and he asked me in a gentle way to try eating half of what I was eating, along with giving up sweets and starches. I made up my own diet which the doctor checked.
My diet consisted of an abundance of will power pills, along with chicken, tuna, baked fish, roast and steak and a stuffed green pepper now and then, with such vegetables as broccoli, cauliflower, green beans, lettuce, salad and also a lot of cottage cheese. I drank tomato juice for breakfast, coffee, tea, cream of wheat, and once in a while two strips of bacon fried crisp.

Dear Reader—Thank you for your nice letter. You are living proof that one of the principles in losing weight is reducing calories and a good way for a person to do this is indeed to must decrease the quantity of everything they have been eating. The diet you describe above has certain important features. It contains quite a bit of protein from chicken, tuna, baked fish and other items that you mentioned.

Any diet, even for losing weight, should include a significant amount of vegetables, which you have described. These provide bulk and keep the person satisfied. Cottage cheese is excellent. For losing weight I usually recommend uncreamed or low-fat cottage cheese. Following such a sensible diet consistently will cause weight loss.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would like to ask you about catsup. My two sons and one of the wives and a grandson are all crazy about it. They have catsup on any meal, every day, even on fried eggs. I have cautioned my sons that catsup might not be good for their health but I would like to hear what you say about it.

Dear Reader—There is nothing wrong with catsup, except for those people who cannot tolerate spicy foods or have to eliminate salt from their diet because of medical problems. Catsup after all is mostly tomatoes and spices. Catsup has gone a long way to rescue a lot of unpalatable meals. According to news stories one of the nation's leading citizens likes the combination of cottage cheese and catsup.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Training Center To Close

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic pressures, U.S. withdrawal, and claims of mission accomplished have joined to close down the agency that trained the Americans who ran the pacification program in Vietnam.

The Vietnam Training Center's last day is May 31, ending five years of classes in language, history, politics and culture for the advisers sent to Vietnam to help organize a new governmental system in the countryside.

The official reason for shutting down the training center now is a recitation of statements that its job is done; that the Vietnamese are generally equipped to run the pacification program.

IRA Bombs Hit North Ireland Cities 5 Times

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Irish Republican Army bombers hit Belfast and Londonderry five times Friday, killing one woman and injuring scores of people. It seemed to be an explosive rejection of mounting Roman Catholic pressure to end violence in the province. Belfast and Londonderry police said all five bombs were planted by the IRA. As the bombs exploded, the Social Democratic and Labor party, Ulster's biggest political opposition group, threw its support to Catholic women in Belfast and Londonderry demanding a truce in the fighting that has convulsed Northern Ireland for 33 months and claimed 337 lives.

The woman died in a Belfast hospital from injuries she received when a bomb, estimated by the British army at more than 150 pounds of gelignite, blew up in a parked car on Oxford Street yards from the city center. More than 40 persons were injured in the blast, the worst explosion in several weeks. No warning was given.

Further action against the IRA was announced in Dublin, when the government of Prime Minister Jack Lynch said it was setting up special criminal courts to deal with subversive groups. In the past, ordinary courts have been generally powerless to deal with the IRA. The new courts have no jury.

The Oxford Street bomb in Belfast left a scene of carnage. It exploded in a parked car and destroyed other vehicles parked nearby and seriously damaged a building a quarter of a mile away. A sports car was thrown across the street onto a sidewalk.

The explosion came when the street was crowded with lunchtime pedestrians. Ambulances shuttled back and forth taking injured to hospitals and more deaths were likely, hospital officials said.

Officials add, however, that the amount of money for Vietnam is falling off as the U.S. involvement is phasing out and there are no longer enough funds to run a teachers' college for pacification.

In its time the training center turned out 1,845 graduates, a third of them military men and the rest from several civilian government agencies. The aim at the outset was to eliminate duplication and confusion among key American members of the Civil Operations and Rural Development Support organization—CORDS for short.

Even though the administration maintains the center's job is done—"Mission Accomplished" is the headline for an internal State Department article on the subject—there are some dissenters.

One former Army officer who was attached to CORDS in the late 1960s said there were several instances in which training-center graduates lacked the language ability to effectively communicate with Vietnamese counterparts.

Another Army officer recalled a center graduate who clung to a harsh Western moral concept of corruption in dealing with what were common practices by lower-level local authorities.

One training-center official acknowledged closing the facility does not really mean pacification "is all that successful," although he said it has improved year by year.

And, as to whether the Vietnamese are equipped to operate the program alone, one State Department source pointed out that Americans will continue to be involved in several areas.

These include administering economic aid as well as providing expertise in the same programs CORDS has always dealt with—local governmental structure, police work, medical mat-

Academy Says Drug Claims Not Substantiated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Academy of Sciences says it approves of fewer than half the claims made on the labels of 96 nonprescription drugs, according to reports kept secret more than three years.

The academy's National Research Council told the Food and Drug Administration that of 158 claims made for the drugs studied, 36 were judged effective and another 31 effective with reservations.

Twenty-eight claims were described as probably effective, meaning more documentation is needed, and 52 were possibly effective, meaning that evidence is lacking. Six claims were rejected as ineffective and no claims were made at all for five products, including four vitamin-mineral compounds.

The scientists studied whether the products actually would do what their labels declared.

The NAS review covers sun-screening lotions and creams, vitamin-mineral preparations, eyedrops, antidiarrheal ointment, antibiotic preparations, laxatives, antihistamines, menstrual products and a host of miscellaneous over-the-counter drugs (OTC) sold without prescriptions.

ATKINSON RITES AT WINCHESTER

WINCHESTER — Funeral services for Ralph Atkinson were held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. at the Woodcock Funeral Home with the Rev. M. D. Goldsborough officiating. Mrs. Margaret Watson served as organist. The military aspect will continue as well, officials said, with the Army operating a training system at Ft. Bragg, N.C., for personnel going into CORDS.

As one source put it, "Pacification is a long way from completion, and the American role will go on, even if the administration says we don't need to train people to be in it."

Angela Davis Advocates Ready Final Pleas

By DONALD B. THACKREY
SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — Angela Davis' murder-kidnap-conspiracy trial was in recess Friday while attorneys for both sides prepared for next week's final arguments to the all-white jury.

Judge Richard E. Aronson met with defense and prosecution attorneys in his chambers Thursday to lay the groundwork for the closing procedures.

Miss Davis' defense team rested its case Wednesday after only three days of testimony by 11 witnesses. The prosecutor, Albert W. Harris Jr., presented 95 witnesses and 200 pieces of evidence in weaving a circumstantial case to support charges that the black militant helped plot the Marin County courthouse kidnappings of 1970.

All that remains when the trial enters its 14th week Tuesday are rebuttal, final arguments and instructions from the judge to the panel of seven women and five men.

Harris said he had not yet decided whether to present rebuttal witnesses Tuesday. Rebuttal testimony had been scheduled for Friday but the session was canceled after Harris said a witness he might present would not be available until Tuesday.

Miss Davis, 28, a former UCLA philosophy instructor and avowed Communist, made the defense's opening arguments in the case, but it had not been decided by her attorneys if she would make the closing statement.

Only one attorney is allowed to present the closing arguments and if Miss Davis pleaded her own case, it would give her a chance to tell her story without undergoing cross-examination by the prosecution. She did not testify during the trial.

Miss Davis specifically is charged with supplying the guns used by Jonathan Jackson when he entered the Marin County Superior Courtroom Aug. 7, 1970, freed three convicts and took a judge and four others hostage. Jackson, Judge Harold Haley and two convicts were killed in the ensuing gunbattle.

22 BLUFFS AREA RESIDENTS TOUR EASTERN THEATERS

BLUFFS — Twenty-two interested students and adults from the Bluffs area took an American Shakespeare tour on May 13 and 14. Highlights of the weekend trip consisted of a tour of Lincoln Center where the New York Ballet performed, a visit to the Shakespearean Theater in Stratford, Connecticut for the production of "Julius Caesar." The off-Broadway show, "Twigs," was also enjoyed.

The group left Capitol Airport in Springfield for New York City via Ozark jet. A scenic drive by bus to Stratford, Conn., was also enjoyed.

SCOTT RITES FOR MINNIE LASHMETT

WINCHESTER — Funeral services for Mrs. Minnie Lashmett were held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Woodcock Funeral Home with the Rev. Maner Aden officiating. Mrs. Kay Smith, organist, accompanied Richard and Robert Coulas in selections of In the Garden and Good Night and Good Morning.

Pallbearers were Jeff Lashmett, Tom Lashmett, David Lashmett, Drew Lashmett, John Lashmett and Don Agans, Jr. Burial was in Winchester City cemetery.

other U.S. site probably would be around Washington, matching the Soviet Galosh system around Moscow. The Russians would build a second site elsewhere.

The treaty would mean the United States would drop its plans for other ABM installations in the West and Midwest and build the one near Washington instead.

A second part of the accord—an executive agreement not requiring Senate ratification—would freeze land- and sea-based offensive missiles at their present levels. According to the latest Pentagon estimate, the United States has 1,054 land-based offensive missiles, the Soviet Union about 1,500.

The United States is listed with 656 submarine-based missiles the Soviets with 500. The accord would allow the replacement of missiles when newer types are developed. It also would not affect the U.S. development of multiple warheads.

The SALT accord gives Nixon the concrete results he said he sought at the Kremlin summit, which followed by three months a break-through journey to Peking for talks with Chinese leaders.

The signing ceremony capped 2½ years of lower-level negotiations alternating between Vienna and Helsinki.

The other five agreements established a cooperative program intended to put U.S. and Soviet astronauts in orbit together by 1975, expanded exchanges on environmental, medical and technological issues and set new rules to avoid confrontation-provoking incidents on or above the high seas.

But trade issues were unsettled when Nixon came to Moscow, and most will remain unsettled when he leaves.

The commercial commission outlined in the communiqué issued by the leaders will pursue negotiations on such issues as reciprocal reduction of trade barriers, the availability of U.S. credits for Soviet industrial expansion and reciprocal establishment of business facilities by each side in the other's country.

Still alive—and to be negotiated apart from the new commission—is a multimillion-dollar grain purchase the Russians are seeking from America's bulging stockpiles. The bulk of any grain to be sold probably would be corn and wheat.

Nixon's chief international trade adviser, Peter Flanigan, said the question of repayment of the Soviet World War II lend-lease debt also would be negotiated separately from the commission's talks.

ROODHOUSE PEO ENDS SEASON WITH DINNER

ROODHOUSE — The May meeting of Chapter BU of the PEO Sisterhood was a dinner party Tuesday evening at the Blackhawk restaurant in Jacksonville. Twenty-four attended including a former member, Mrs. Ray Denney of Jacksonville.

A delicious dinner meeting was arranged by the spring social committee comprised of Mrs. Eben Hunt, chairman; Mrs. F. P. Anderson, Mrs. N. J. Bucklin, Mrs. C. C. Coats, Mrs. B. L. Cuddy, Mrs. E. L. Houseman, Mrs. J. R. McConathy, Mrs. A. B. Nichols and Mrs. J. W. Roberts. The door prize, a pretty floral centerpiece of yellow and white was presented to the oldest attending member, Mrs. Irma Hunt, widow of Dr. Harry Hunt. Two other members, also great favorites, are more than 90 years of age: Mrs. Hannah Hull, widow of the late H. M. Hull, and Mrs. Cora Orr, widow of James M. Orr, all active and living in their own homes. Mrs. Orr is observing her 94th birthday Friday, May 26.

Mrs. Roy Burrus, the president, and delegate to the convention gave a detailed and interesting report of the 70th annual Illinois State Chapter convention of PEO held at the Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis, Mo., May 17-19.

Approximately 500 members and guests were present including 318 official delegates representing 316 chapters' 13,000 members in Illinois. Besides the president, Mrs. Burrus, Mrs. C. C. Coats, Mrs. Dale Gibbins, Mrs. C. H. Sawyer and Mrs. G. A. Wollermann attended the Tuesday sessions. Attending the banquet Thursday evening from Chapter BU were Dr. and Mrs. Ludwig Dech, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Tuyle and Mr. and Mrs. Eben Hunt.

Dr. Roy Wehrle, director of social planning for the State of Illinois, was the main speaker. His address was Man, the Creator.

The local chapter is recessed until next September.

Democratic Contenders Spar In California

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern pressed their campaigns in the California Democratic presidential primary Friday, with Humphrey applauding the U.S.-Soviet arms limitation agreement and McGovern assailing President Nixon's economic policies.

Humphrey, speaking to a luncheon group in San Francisco, said of the arms limitation announcement Friday in Moscow: "I've put about 15 years of my life into this, so I can't help but feel gratification over what has been accomplished so far."

The Minnesota senator said that he was particularly pleased with what he understood to be agreements freezing the level of antiballistic missiles.

Shortly before Humphrey arrived at the San Francisco Hotel to speak to 500 members of the Commonwealth Club, McGovern addressed a rally of 2,000 supporters in Union Square, on which the hotel fronts.

McGovern asserted that Nixon's economic policies "are driving the average family into debt while the giant corporations are eating high off the hog."

Humphrey's comments came during a question and answer session at the club, comprised of businessmen and executives, mostly Republicans. He said that although he had been opposed to the original ABM concept, he had encouraged continuing the preliminary deployment of them to enable the United States to negotiate arms control from a position of strength.

Driving themselves hard in their quest for votes, the two candidates campaigned from early in the morning until late at night, flying from Los Angeles to San Francisco and back again.

In a speech prepared for unemployed aerospace workers being retrained in Palo Alto, near San Francisco, McGovern said Humphrey is telling aerospace workers "that just believing in more jobs will make it come true; that once the election is over some mystical plan—now secret—will appear and put them all back to work."

McGovern likened this "mystical plan" with what he said was President Nixon's secret plan in the 1968 campaign to end the Vietnam war.

"President Nixon's secret plan for peace has produced four more years of brutal war," the South Dakota senator said. "The American people won't be fooled again by easy campaign rhetoric."

Some Guests You Can Do Without

"At my next party, I'm only inviting single, childless couples," a neighbor complained. "I know," I said. "The first guests to arrive set up a playpen in the middle of your living room."

"And they had to move three card tables to do it," she sighed.

"Did they complain about having to move the furniture?" "You better believe it," she answered. "The baby's mother told me I should have a little foresight in these matters."

"What did you say?" "Nothing—I was too busy rescuing the onion dip."

"The baby was eating it?" "I didn't mind that he was eating it! What I minded was his pouring it into my grand piano."

"What did his mother do?" "She told me I should have closed the piano."

A hostess doesn't have to invite the parents again if they insist on always including the baby. She never has to see them again.

Chances are, however, she will see that baby again. She'll see him someday when she's out having lunch. He's on his two sturdy legs now, pouring his milkshake into the lunchroom. He's the one who grabs his neighbor's piece of cake, wads it into a ball, and throws it at the monitor.

And when he's old enough to eat out by himself, she'll recognize him again and again. He's the loud-mouth. He's the one who pours salt into the sugar bowl. He's the one who flips french fries at the ceiling—after smothering them in catsup.

I'm sure she'll never catch a glimpse of him at a party, however. Once he's an adult he won't be invited anywhere. And, his parents will never understand it.

The United States could use 3,300 more veterinarians than the 27,000 now practicing, says a study by the Bank of America.

Haley Qualifies For Prep Finals

CHARLESTON — Jacksonville High School standout hurdler George Haley sparked preliminary and semi-final runs Friday afternoon and qualified for today's finals in two events in the Illinois state high school track and field finals.

While Haley will be running in the final eight in the finals Saturday afternoon, the other Crimson participants failed to qualify for the finals.

In the 120-yard high hurdles the 5-8 Haley tied with Dave Wykoff of Bloom in the first heat in 14.4. In the semi-final heat Wykoff and Haley again turned in 14.4's, with Wykoff given the nod by less than a step.

Along with Haley and Wykoff, other qualifiers for today's finals and their times were Jim Hanlan of Glenbard West 14.2, Robert Jeffery of Chicago Kenwood 14.3, Terry Ryan of Lincolnway 14.5, Gary Wofford of Joliet West 14.5, Al Melton of Chicago Marshall 14.6, and Phyllis Jones of Evanston 14.6. The finals are slated for 1:05.

In the 180-yard lows Haley won his first heat in 19.6, lowering his own school record, and also won the semi-final heat in 19.6. Along with Haley in Saturday's finals are Dave Wykoff of Bloom 19.2, Gary Wofford of Joliet West 19.5, Jim Hanlan of Glenbard East 19.7, Darnell Jenkins of Rockford West 19.7, Delrick White of Chicago Kenwood 19.7, Greg Cries of Dundee 19.7 and Larry Doby of Evanston 20.1. The finals will start at 2:05.

Beardstown's Tom Seward qualified the 159'2" and qualified for the finals in his specialty.

Gary Russell ran a 4:25 mile and did not qualify, but will compete in the two-mile run today. The JHS 880 relay squad of Ed Wilk, Dean Russell, Stan Daugherty and Haley ran fourth in its heat in 1:31.9 and did not qualify for the finals. The mile relay unit of Wilk, Russell, Jim Fry and Rodney Dobson finished in 3:35.0 and failed to qualify.

Jacksonville's Ron Fairfield and Waverly's John Kumber both did not get past 6'0" and failed to qualify in the high jump.

Heat Conditions May Hamper 500

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The worst heat conditions since 1953 may complicate the 50th running of the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race Saturday.

The temperature for the 33 drivers, all faster than last year's record-breaking Peter Revson McLaren, may be near the 91 degrees of '53. Nine drivers were treated for heat exhaustion that year and Carl Scarborough died in the infield hospital at the Speedway.

Jim Rathman, who will drive the pace car Saturday, led part of that race 19 years ago. He recalled it vividly Friday as the drivers met for their final instructions. "I got sick and threw up," the Melbourne, Fla., auto dealer said. "Pat Flaherty passed out and drove straight into the wall."

Tire engineers said in 1953 that the temperature on the surface of the asphalt track was 130 degrees.

Rathman doesn't think the heat will be such a problem Saturday. Since the 1960 winner's heyday the engines have been moved from the front to the rear of the cars and the heat doesn't wash over the drivers.

"The cars are 100 per cent cooler now," Rathman said. "The steering wheel used to get so hot you could hardly hold it. Your feet, too."

Rathman, who has held world closed course race records, at both Monza, Italy, and Daytona International Raceway, was named to drive the pace car after an amateur driver hit a photographer's stand last Saturday, injuring more than 50 persons. Early laps Saturday around the 2.5-mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway may look like one of the 20-mile spring events popular on smaller tracks.

A driver gets $150 for each lap he leads, in addition to the regular purse.

A. J. Foyt Jr., hoping for an unprecedented fourth Indy victory in his own Coyote-Ford, will start in 17th position. Nobody has won from that far back since Bill Vukovich started 19th in 1954.

The lean and hungry Vukovich, killed leading the 1953 race, won that hot event of 1953.

Vukovich's son, Bill, is rated a strong contender Saturday.

Bobby Unser, the 1968 winner, will start in the pole position, No. 1, and the other drivers could be scrambling for second place.

Qualifications, in which he set a 10-mile Speedway record of 195.94 m.p.h., indicated nobody can pass him if his while Eagle-Offenhauser stays stuck together.

Other former winners, in a field that includes eight rookies, include Al Unser, 1960 and 1971, starting from 19th place, and Mario Andretti, 1969, starting from fifth.

Evanston Has Start At Repeat

CHARLESTON, Ill. (AP) — Evanston, geared by the 100-yard dash record of Howard Jones, got a running start Friday for its third straight team championship by dominating the qualifying prelims of the Illinois state high school track meet.

The Wildkits earned eight places plus their 880-yard relay team in Saturday's finals at Eastern Illinois' Lincoln Field.

No other school came close. Evanston is all but conceded the championship, with Alton, Bloom and East St. Louis Lincoln in the best bets to battle for second.

Jones, aiming for a three-year sweep of the 100 and 220 dashes, sizzled to .09.5 in his semifinal qualifying heat. It smashed the .09.6 record set in 1950 by the late James Golliday of Chicago Phillips and matched last year by Jones.

Jones and Mike Monroe of East St. Louis Lincoln shared the best qualifying time in the 220 of .21.8 compared to the .21.1 record set by Jones last year.

The only close approaches to other records were by Jim Hanlon of Glenbard East with 14.2 in the 120-yard high hurdles and by Evanston's half-mile relay team of Joe Stewart, Rick Strong, Jerome Maye and Jones. It turned in 1:27.8, five-tenths second off the standard.

Other qualifiers for Evanston were Larry Bates with the best 880 trial of 1:42.2; Stewart, in the 100; Larry Doby, 180-yard low hurdles; Strong, 220; Andy Reese, High Jump, and Gary Stujduhar, shot put.

Kaline's Clutch Hit Lets Tigers Rip Yankees 8-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Timmerman and Fred Scherman combined for a six-hit Friday night and Al Kaline delivered a clutch two-run single as the Detroit Tigers trimmed the New York Yankees 8-2.

Scherman bailed Timmerman out of a sixth-inning jam, pitching two-hit ball the rest of the way and allowing just one unearned run in the ninth, singled home by Horace Clarke.

Kaline ripped a bases-loaded, two-out single for a pair of runs in the seventh to give the Tigers some breathing room.

Detroit had kicked Mike Kekich for a run in the first on rookie Paul Jata's RBI single and added another in the third when Timmerman struck out but reached first on a third-strike wild pitch and came around on hits by Tony Taylor and Aurelio Rodriguez.

The Yankees got one back in the fifth on hits by Rich McKinney and Clarke, sandwiched around a sacrifice. When Timmerman walked two batters with one out in the sixth, Scherman relieved.

With two out in the seventh, Taylor walked and raced to third on Rodriguez' hit and run single. A walk to Jata loaded the bases and Kaline tagged the next pitch for his two-run single.

The Tigers jumped on Lindy McDaniel for four unearned runs in the ninth inning, with the Yankees committing two errors and Tom Haller stroking a two-run single.

Fisk's Double Allowed Red Sox To Take 5-4 Win

BOSTON (AP) — Carlton Fisk drove in the winning run with a double in the eighth inning, lifting the Boston Red Sox to a 5-4 triumph over the Milwaukee Brewers Friday night.

Fisk's hit chased home pinch-runner John Kennedy as second base. Kennedy was on second for Rico Petrocelli, who had singled and moved up on a sacrifice.

Milwaukee wiped out an early four-run Boston lead, finally tying the score 4-4 on Dave May's run-scoring single in the seventh inning.

Duane Josephson gave Boston a 1-0 lead in the first inning, driving home Tommy Harper from first base with a two-out, bloop single to right.

The Red Sox then scored three runs in the second without benefit of a base hit. Two errors, including a misjudged fly ball hit by Luis Aparicio with the bases loaded that allowed all three runners to score, helped the Boston cause.

Milwaukee cut the lead with a run in the third as Ellie Rodriguez came home from third on a wild pitch. The Brewers then scored two more runs in the fifth on run-scoring doubles by May and Billy Conigliaro.

Atlanta Braves battered San Francisco as Juan Marichal for eight runs on as many hits in four innings, including Hank Aaron's 64th career homer and walloped the Giants 9-4 Friday night with Marichal suffering his eighth consecutive defeat.

Ron Reed, 2-4, who had been provided with only one run in his last three starts, received nine-run support in the first five innings and responded with his most impressive performance of the season, scattering nine hits, six in the last two innings.

Two of the runs came on Aaron's first homer since May 6, a drive high into the left field stands in the fourth inning. It was his seventh of the season and the 3,000th hit of his career.

The Braves jumped Marichal, who hasn't won since opening day, for at least one run in each of the innings he pitched and finally chased him in the fourth.

Marichal was the victim of some erratic support in the early going as the Giants committed an error in each of the first three innings and two in the fourth.

Marichal himself was guilty of one of the errors when he fielded a bunt by Reed in the second and threw wildly to first, allowing a run to score. He also wild pitched a run across.

The Giants got their first run in the third when Garry Maddox hit his first major league home run.

Kessinger broke for second with a 3-1 count on Beckert. Although the call was ball four, catcher John Boccabella threw to second baseman Ron Hunt and umpire Billy Williams called Kessinger out. Kessinger then left the base and was tagged by Hunt. The Cubs argued Kessinger would not have left the base if Williams hadn't called him out and announced they were playing the game under protest.

The Cubs' Billy Williams then singled and Rick Monday followed with a run-scoring single. The second run of the inning scored as Fanzone grounded out.

The Cubs wrapped it up in the fifth with three runs on Fanzone's bases-loaded single and a throwing error by Boccabella.

Warns Players Will Act If Fines Levied

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Fleischer, attorney for the National Basketball Association players, said Friday the players would take "collective action" if any fines were handed out because of their participation in a game against American Basketball Association players.

Fleischer's comment was made after Bob Lanier of the Detroit Pistons, who starred for the NBA in a 100-104 victory over the ABA All-Stars Thursday night, said if anyone is suspended or fined, "all the players will quit."

Fleischer said he took exception to the word "quit," but emphasized that "there's no way the players are going to be fined. We will use all the necessary tools at our disposal, including a law suit. The ultimate weapon is a collective action."

A spokesman for NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy said "the commissioner isn't commenting about last night's game."

Kennedy had warned the NBA players they would be subject to fines for playing in the game. He said the minimum would be the amount they received for playing in the game. The NBA players took home $3,000 each for winning, to $1,700 for the losing ABA stars.

Jack Fires Eight Under 64 For Lead

ATLANTA (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, gunning for his fourth title of the season, fashioned a stunning, eight-under-par 64 and swept into the 130,000 Atlanta Golf Classic.

Nicklaus, who matched the course record for the 6,863-yard Atlanta Country Club layout, had a 36-hole total of 134-10 under-par.

He was one stroke in front of big Bob Lunn, who came out of a season-long slump with a 68-135.

South African Gary Player bolted out of the pack with a 68 and was just two strokes off the pace at 136.

Honoro Blancas and Lou Graham, who played in the same threesome with Nicklaus, were tied at 137. Blancas had a 68 and Graham a 69.

Lee Trevino, who scored his first victory of the season last week in the Danny Thomas Memphis Classic, rallied with a 68 but was well back in the field at 142.

Richie Karl, the tour sophomore who took a surprise lead at the end of 18 holes, went to a 74-140, six strokes back of Nicklaus. Dave Stockton, who had an opening 77, also matched the course record with a 64.

Nicklaus, already winner of the Masters, two other titles and some $154,000 this season, is making his last start prior to the U.S. Open at Pebble Beach, Calif., in three weeks.

It took a score of 146 to make the cut for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. Among the prominent casualties were former Masters champion Charles Coody and Australian Bruce Crampton.

Davis has a spring season best of 185-1 and was regarded a threat to the 24-year-old record of 178-11 1/4 set by Minnesota's Fortune Gordien in 1949.

Said Dykstra, "I thought about the event so much this morning I couldn't eat lunch. I tried one bite of a sandwich and realized I couldn't eat it."

The day's outstanding performance came in the 440-yard dash semifinals with a 45.8 victory by Michigan's Kim Rowe. The best previous conference time for the 440 this spring was 47.2 by Bill Wallace, who was one of two Indiana qualifiers for the quarter-mile finals.

The Spartans advanced three men into the 220-yard finals and three into the 100-yard semifinals.

Indiana also qualified heavily in the 220 and 100-yard sprints, but challengers to the Hoosiers may be helped by Purdue's stellar Larry Burton.

He had the best 220 qualifying time of 21.0 and matched Washington's 9.6 for the best time in the 100-yard dash.

Dykstra, who scored somewhat of an upset over Michigan's Steve Adams, was happy with his winning 173-0 discus effort.

Facts, Figures On 56th Running Of Indy Classic

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) —

Stander's Wife Was Hurt, Too

By Milton Richman
UPI Sports Writer
Omaha, Neb. (UPI)—She is a little woman, barely more than five feet tall.

Very pretty, too.
Her name is Darlene Stander and she and her husband, Ron Stander, the heavyweight fighter, were childhood sweethearts who went together 12 years before they got married eight years ago.

Frank, 6, and Angela, 3, are the result of that marriage and both stood close to their mother Thursday night as she sat rather resignedly on a folding chair outside her husband's dressing room at Omaha's Civic Auditorium after Joe Frazier had bloodied him up and stopped him at the start of the fifth round in their heavyweight title fight.

Inside Ron Stander's dressing room, whose door was closed, Dr. Jack Lewis was doing the best he could.

He took nearly 20 minutes and when he was finished Ron Stander's face looked as if it had been run over by a heavy tractor. There was a total of 17 stitches—plus a broken nose.

While all this was going on inside the dressing room, Darlene Stander, 27, the same age as her husband, was answering questions about him. Like:

Q. "What did you think of his performance tonight?"

A. "I was proud of him."

Q. "What about all that blood?"

A. "I've seen Ron bleed before. The blood didn't bother me that much. I was more worried about him getting hit."

Q. "Are you gonna advise him to quit now?"

A. "I advised him to quit before he got into the ring this time. He wanted to have one more fight. I wouldn't care if he got a million dollars for this fight, it wasn't worth it. I get accused of being a nag and a bitch. I took a lot of gump from his manager. I took a lot of gump from Ron when he wasn't in shape and I told him he shouldn't fight in that condition."

Q. "What about your two children here?"

A. "I put my daughter on tranquilizers four months ago because her daddy wasn't home. Frank has been taken his father's absence better."

The door of Ron Stander's dressing room opened and the loser emerged between his manager, Dick Noland, and his trainer, Johnny Dunne.

Stander kissed his two children, then his wife.

He walked to a platform farther down the corridor and began talking to newsmen through a microphone.

"I'm sorry I let a lotta people down," he said, his right eye swollen shut, his lips puffed up like a pair of curlers and his nose like something right out of W. C. Fields. Blood trickled from a spot alongside the top of his nose despite the dressing there.

"I did everything I could," Stander went on. "I wanted to come out and finish the fight, but they said no. I couldn't see in the last round. I'm not making excuses. I hope everybody realizes..."

Ron Stander tried to control himself but found he couldn't. He had wept in the ring after the fight was stopped and he began weeping now again.

"Why is Ron crying?" Somebody asked his wife, who had walked down the corridor to listen to what he had to say to the newsmen.

"Because he is a little boy at heart," Darlene Stander said. "His whole reason for fighting is that he became an instant hero. His biggest purse has been $3,000, that was right here in Omaha for his fight with Manuel Ramos. I can't cope with it. I tell him 'You're unstable, you don't know what you're doing.'"

"What does he say to you?" "I'm a nag. I don't know what I'm talking about."

"Why do you want him to quit?"

"Because he doesn't take fighting seriously."

"He did tonight."

"That's one fight. One fight in three years."

Mrs. Stander, demure in a pink pants suit with white polka dots, called Frazier "a great champ" and said she wished her husband had the "backing" he did.

In his dressing room, Frazier said he considered Ron Stander stronger than George Chuvalo, and stronger even than Oscar Bonavena.

"He bleeds a lot, but if you ask me whether I think he should continue fighting, I'd say yeah," said the champion.

Later in the evening, champion and challenger both found themselves in the same downtown hotel together.

They decided to take a cab together and once inside, they talked a good deal. Ron Stander had to be a little careful though. It hurt so much when he laughed.

Both Managers Ejected In 5-3 Houston Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — Doug Rader smashed a run-scoring single in the seventh inning to break a tie and give Houston a 5-3 victory over the Los Angeles Friday night in a tensely-fought game that had both managers ejected.

Jimmy Wynn made the winning run possible by hitting a single and stealing second. Rader then came through with his single to left, giving Houston a 4-3 lead.

The Astros then scored another run in the eighth as Jack Hiatt doubled, moved to third on a sacrifice and came in on Roger Metzger's squeeze bunt.

The victory gave the Astros a 3½-game lead over the Dodgers in their race in the National League West.

Los Angeles Manager Walt Alton was thrown out of the contest in the sixth inning after disputing a walk to Hiatt that loaded the bases for the Astros. Pitcher Dave Roberts then singled to score one run and Metzger hit a sacrifice fly to score another and give Houston a 3-1 lead.

The Dodgers came back to tie the game with a two-run seventh on a run-scoring single by Frank Robinson and a bases-loaded walk to Chris Cannizzaro.

Houston Manager Harry Walker was thrown out while disputing an outfield play in the seventh.

George Will Meet Frazier For Peanuts

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Heavyweight Champion Joe Frazier stood ready Friday to fight Muhammad Ali for millions, while George Foreman said he would fight Frazier for "peanuts."

After Frazier beat Ron Stander in a brawl here Thursday night, he said he would fight Ali for $3.5 million.

The champion mentioned no date or site for a return match with Ali but he and his manager, Yank Durham, said he won't fight in New York because of a special tax and Durham said he won't take a fight in California because of personal reasons.

As for his immediate plans, Frazier said he would stay in Omaha for Joe Frazier Day Saturday and then "me and the title are going to take a long vacation."

Frazier spoke Friday morning in the lobby of his hotel with Dick Sadler, Foreman's manager.

"Everybody else has had a shot at the title and now we want one," said Sadler. "George is ready and the public and press are ready for a fight with Frazier."

"George will fight him for nothing," added Sadler.

Foreman, winner of all 36 of his pro fights, 33 by knockout, said Thursday night after watching Frazier batter Stander, "All I want is $1, expenses and Joe Frazier."

Frazier had a puffiness around his right eye Friday but otherwise was unmarked by the bruising fight which ended with Stander on his stool, his face a bloody mask, between the fourth and fifth rounds. It was called a fifth-round knockout.

"He's relentless," said Stander who attended Frazier's victory party Thursday night and stopped by his hotel Friday.

"He just keeps coming."

"He wouldn't have put me down," said Stander who remained on his feet during the fight. But he needed 17 stitches to close four cuts on his face and he also suffered a broken nose.

"When my skin heals I'd like to fight him again," said Stander.

"He's too nice a guy," said Frazier. "I'd never fight him again."

Midwestern Loop Votes To Break

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — The board of governors of the five-member Midwestern Conference voted unanimously Friday to dissolve its athletic association, effective June 30.

Dr. John J. Pruis, president of Ball State University and chairman of the conference board, said the action would have no effect on the five schools' academic association.

The five schools are Ball State, Indiana State, Illinois State, Northern Illinois and Southern Illinois.

Southern Illinois announced withdrawal from the league earlier this spring, and Friday's action was taken because the conference would "not be of a workable size," Pruis said.

LITTLE LEAGUE

The Giants and Yankees rolled to easy victories Friday evening in Elks Little League activity.

The Giants, now 4-2, topped the Dodgers 14-6, running up the 14 runs in the first three innings. The Dodgers broke on the board with six in the sixth.

The Yankees capped a big night with a ten-run sixth inning with a nine-hit attack boosting the victors to a 5-1 mark. Brad Anderson had a double and run for the winners.

Alley's Single Helps Pirates Top Phillies 6-4

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gene Alley's tie-breaking single in the seventh inning helped the Pittsburgh Pirates hand the slumping Philadelphia Phillies their 10th straight loss, 6-4, Friday night.

Jose Pagan, who led off the seventh inning rally with a single and moved to second on a walk to Bob Robertson, came home on Alley's decisive hit to left-center.

The Pirates then added an insurance run in the eighth as Dave Cash tripled, extending his hitting streak to 19 games, and rode home on Roberto Clemente's single.

The Phillies had tied the game at 4-4 in their half of the seventh with a pair of runs, one unearned.

Larry Bowa led off with a single and scored when Denny Doyle singled and Pittsburgh center fielder Al Oliver threw the ball into the Phillies' dugout for an error. Doyle later scored the second run on a sacrifice fly.

The Pirates had earlier fashioned a 4-2 lead by scoring a pair of runs in both the first and fourth innings, with the help of four Philadelphia errors.

Each team committed four errors in the sloppily-played contest.

SENATE PANEL APPROVES SHULTZ

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has unanimously approved the nomination of George P. Shultz to be secretary of the Treasury.

Shultz, Nixon's original secretary of labor and now the administration's top budget officer, is the President's choice to succeed John B. Connally, who announced his retirement earlier this month.

Shultz appeared before the finance panel Thursday before it approved his nomination.

Shultz's nomination is expected to go to the Senate next week.

Church League

Murrayville, Lynnville Methodist and Our Saviours posted victories Friday evening in Church League Slow Pitch Softball.

Murrayville downed Lincoln Avenue B' 19-3 with Jeff Ford notching four hits, Kenny Welch, Dale Hubbard and Greig Stanberry each collecting three hits and Tony DeFratres clubbing two home runs.

Lynnville blasted First Presbyterian 15-5, jumping to a 12-0 lead.

Our Saviours nipped Literberry Christian with a three-run seventh inning rally.

Cuellar, Blair Boost Baltimore Past Indians 2-0

BALTIMORE (AP) — Paul Blair drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and scored another after hitting a triple as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Cleveland Indians 2-0 Friday night behind Mike Cuellar's four-hit pitching.

Blair's three-bagger, one of just three Baltimore hits, opened the second inning. He scored on Boog Powell's sacrifice fly—which left fielder Alex

Johnson misplayed for a two-base error.

The victory for Cuellar, a 20-game winner in each of the past three seasons, was his first since April 29 and raised his record to 2-3. It was the first start since May 16 for the left-hander, who missed his last start because of a back injury.

Advance In Prep Tennis

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — All four seeded players, headed by No. 1 Eric Friedler of Evanston, swept through the first two singles rounds of the Illinois high school state tennis championship meet Friday.

In the opening session of the two-day meet at the University of Illinois, Friedler did not lose a game as he vanquished John Hatch of St. Charles and Steve Poe of Roxana by identical scores of 6-0, 6-0.

No. 2 seeded Bill Dutton of defending team champion Oak Park defeated Don Harvey of Champaign Central, 6-0, 6-0, and then triumphed in the second round over Jim Solomon of Chicago University High, 6-0, 6-0.

Galesburg's Dave Parker, seeded No. 3, measured Sergio Estenese, Chicago Sullivan, 6-0, 6-0, and then ousted Bob Finner of Morton West, 6-1, 6-0.

The only other seeded player, No. 4 John Powell of Highland Park, whipped Bob Ellsworth of Maine South, 6-0, 6-0, and Fred Ware, Joliet West, 6-0, 6-1.

Semifinals and finals will be played Saturday among survivors from 87 schools.

Friedler, Dutton, Parker and Powell all advanced into Saturday's semifinals, but the team leader after Friday's play was Hinsdale Central with 13 points.

Tied for second at 10 each were Oak Park and Arlington. But Highland Park tied for fourth with New Trier East at nine each, was the only team with a chance to tie Hinsdale Central Saturday.

Winchester rolled over Firemen 15-3, breaking open a close game in the fourth inning, sending 12 batters to the plate in the seven-run outburst. Jim Little had a single and double to pace Winchester offensively, with Joe Nash firing a four-hitter.

Snap Norman's Skein, Win 4-0

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Gary Nolan turned the tables on San Diego shutout artist Fred Norman and blanked the Padres 4-0 on five hits Friday night as the Red snapped a three-game losing streak.

Norman had entered the game with 27 scoreless innings, one short of the club record, and with four straight wins, the last three by shutouts. Joe Morgan, the second Cincinnati batter, cracked Norman's first pitch into the right field stands for his sixth home run of the season.

Pony League

Hertzsberg and Winchester scored lopsided victories Friday evening in Pony League games at the Pony-Colt Park.

Hertzsberg ripped Olsons Cleaners 5-0 behind Jay Dickman's nine strikeouts, one walk, one-hit shutout, with the game called after five innings. The losers were guilty of 15 fielding miscues.

Winchester rolled over Firemen 15-3, breaking open a close game in the fourth inning, sending 12 batters to the plate in the seven-run outburst. Jim Little had a single and double to pace Winchester offensively, with Joe Nash firing a four-hitter.

Lewis Captures NAIA Area Six

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Lewis College of Lockport, Ill., smashed Ferris State Mich. 11-3 Friday to capture the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Area 6 baseball championship.

Jack Schimanski fired a six-hitter and Joe Pomykala drove in five runs with two singles and a two-run homer in the sixth inning, highlighting a six-run outburst that put the game on ice.

Lewis now advances to the NAIA finals in Phoenix, Ariz., June 5-10. They won all three games they played in the two-day tournament and now stand 45-10 on the season. Lewis was third in last season's NAIA baseball tournament.

Ferris had gained the finals by defeating host Malone College, 3-2, in a 17-inning morning affair in which both pitchers went the full route. The game lasted four hours, 15 minutes.

Winning pitcher for Ferris, 23-5, was Rich Schurkamp who scored Ferris' first run in the second when he singled, stole second, went to third on the catcher's throwing error and scored on a wild pitch.

Mike Kovachevich drove in the winning run with a two-out single that followed a walk to Fred Dunham and a single by Tom Whitfield.

Kovachevich also had driven in the second Ferris run in the sixth with another single.

Malone's runs in the fourth and eighth were set up by a double and then a single by Joe Hudac.

Learn To Swim Deadline Near

The entry deadline for the Fourth Annual Journal Courier-YMCA Free Learn to Swim Campaign is rapidly approaching, as campaign week is June 5-9. This program is offered in the interest of greater water safety to all non-YMCA members.

During the learn to swim week participants are instructed in water adjustment, swimming skills, and water safety by qualified YMCA staff who will be assisted by Junior Leaders.

An extra feature to be taught is "Drownproofing." This technique is designed to teach individuals how to stay afloat for an indefinite period of time even though injured or suffering from a cramp. This will not replace the purpose of the campaign for teaching basic swimming skills, but will be used to supplement the program with a seriously needed skill.

Classes are being offered for 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th graders, junior and senior high grades, and adults.

A Record Carp LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—The new record carp for Michigan, a 61-pound, 43-inch trophy speared last June, is the oldest fish of its species ever taken from the wild in this country, report fish biologists of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

A careful examination of the carp's scales showed the true age of the fish was close to 25 years, making the carp appear in Klinger Lake of St. Joseph County the granddaddy of all wild carp known to have been taken in the United States.

Fishing News Notes

By DICK SELLARS

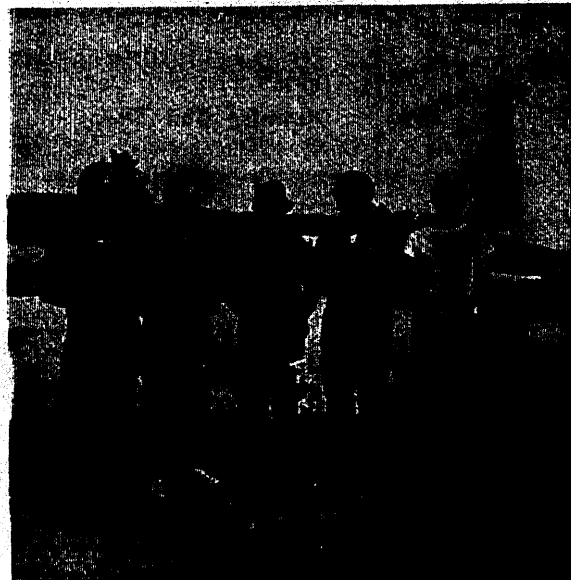

The local Jacksonville Bass club (16 members) went to Otter Lake last Saturday with three more fishermen and caught more fish. The most any one person caught was three fish, but that person had several chances of catching fish. The largest bass of the day was about three pounds caught by Bill Carter, who won the largest bass and the most pounds of fish trophy. Yours truly was second and Ben Scudder was third. Ben Scudder was the only repeat fisherman with second before and third-place trophy this time.

The club is planning a week-end trip to Lake Stockton in the near future. It should make a good weekend trip. I have made the food and lodging arrangements, but if there are any members who want to go, they should contact me soon at D and D Sports Center.

With vacations coming up and schools out, many people are going to their favorite lake or maybe to a new lake they have never fished before. Most usually, you will catch fish in areas where you fished the year before providing the time and the weather conditions are the same. If you go to your old faithful lake, go to the same spot; but if you're on a new lake you have never fished before or you just want to find new places, go out and study your lake. If you look at maps and just go boat riding, go along the shores but stay off the shores a ways out so you can look at the shores. The first spot I look for on big lakes is a point that goes way out into the lake. Watch your depth finder or watch for stick ups that go several yards out into the lake. Go out as far into the lake and find your drop-off, work your way back over shallow points. These points are feeding grounds early of a morning and late of an evening.

Bass, walleye, northern, crappie, blue gill — all often feed on shallow points. They stay

In deeper water and feed in the shallow. After you have fished for two hours and catch all kinds of fish, then all of a sudden they move out. On cloudy overcast days they sometimes will stay on the points longer. But when that sun gets hot, they will go to deeper water. Taking a drive along the shores will sometimes save days of fishing with no fish.

When you go by rocks, bluffs, log piles out in the water and underwater points, mark them down on a map or just remember where they are and fish them according to the time of day; but fish the water that looks a little better than others and you will catch more fish.

Bill Milburn caught the largest crappie for the year — two pounds, 12 ounces — on a fly rod at Lake Jacksonville. Bill should be a real proud boy; that is one of the largest I have seen in this area. Jack Coleman caught a one-pound nine-ounce crappie on a pink jig in a local farm pond, which is second largest for the month. Mike Crouse caught the largest bass of the year, an eight-pound eight-ounce bass, on a plastic worm in a farm pond. This is one of the largest ever reported at our store. Les Abbott caught a five-pound eight-ounce bass on a Gapin worm. George Hamilton caught a 22-pound carp at White Oaks.

Anderson Lake has been producing crappie averaging a pound on minnows all over the lake. Greenville Lake is reporting good bass fishing up to four pounds. Argyle Lake reports bass on plastic worms with a lot of blue gill being caught. Shelbyville reports good fishing for bass. Crappie, white bass and blue gill have been good fishing. Homer Lake at Homer reports northern pike have been hitting and running 21 to 23 inches in length. Spring Lake reports good fishing for bullheads, carp and blue gill.

Bring your catches to D and D SPORTS CENTER for pictures and prizes.

Lake Shelbyville

GRAFTON, Ill. — Various forms of sulfur may continue to be a problem in Lake Shelbyville and its principal tributary streams, and a water quality monitoring program will be continued again this summer, according to Dr. George Sprugel, Jr., chief of the Illinois Natural History Survey.

In a section of his annual report to the Board of Natural Resources and Conservation at a two-day meeting in Pere Marquette State Park May 16 and 17, Sprugel said sulfate concentrations in the Kaskaskia river entering the reservoir are considerably higher than in similar positions of the Sangamon, Embarras and Little Wabash rivers. Survey biologist Dr. R. Weldon Larimore predicted that the high concentrations of sulfates in the Kaskaskia might become a problem as they are converted to sulfides by bacteria in the deep, oxygen-deficient waters of Lake Shelbyville. This prediction has proven true. (Continued From Page 3)

Reduction of sulfates and the decomposition of sulfur-bearing or organic matter in the deep portions of Lake Shelbyville last summer produced undesirable concentrations of hydrogen sulfide. This substance is objectionable in trace amounts and toxic at only slightly higher concentrations.

Hydrogen sulfide poisoning is believed to be the cause of two fish-kills in Lake Shelbyville during 1971. Discharge of sulfide-bearing water through the dam at Shelbyville resulted in a problem of air quality in the vicinity of the dam. The "rotten egg" smell of hydrogen sulfide disrupted most water-based recreation in the tail-water area, Sprugel said.

An intensive study of the various forms of sulfur present in the Lake Shelbyville basin is being led by Warren U. Brigham, resident biologist at the Survey's Sullivan laboratory. Two potential sources of sulfates in the Kaskaskia river, industry and oil wells, could be controlled if they were known to be responsible, Sprugel reported.

Knowledge of the annual cycles of sulphur compounds in the lake could indicate changes in the manner and timing of water discharge through the dam to minimize sulfide pollution in the tail-water area. Sprugel said preliminary observations during 1971 led to a modification of water discharge which greatly reduced odor problems below the dam.

CONGRESS had appropriated $350 million for FHA this fiscal year, but the Office of Management and Budget until now refused to permit spending the full amount.

However, according to an Agriculture Department spokesman, requests from FHA field offices for more loan funds grew during the winter and the agency had run out of money for the program by early April.

Operating loans are made to farmers who cannot get conventional credit to help pay for feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock and other items needed to run their operations.

More Money Released For Farm Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The
Nixon Administration bowed to Congress Thursday and released an additional $37 million to the Farmers Home Administration for making farm operating loans this fiscal year.
The release of the money, announced by Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz, raises to $350 million the funds available for the year ending June 30.
About $275 million was loaned in 1970-71.

Congress had appropriated $350 million for FHA this fiscal year, but the Office of Management and Budget until now refused to permit spending the full amount.

Operating loans are made to farmers who cannot get conventional credit to help pay for feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock
and other items needed to run
their operations.

LITTLE REDHEADED GIRL MAKES PEANUT BLUE

For anyone who ever experienced puppy love, felt lonely in a schoolyard or stupid at a blackboard, missed a school bus or ate peanut butter, "You're in Love, Charlie Brown," the animated Peanuts special in which Charlie Brown gets the blues over a little redheaded girl, will be rebroadcast Saturday, June 3, (7-7:30 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network.

BLOCKER'S DEATH MEANS IMPORTANT 'BONANZA' CHANGES

NEW YORK (AP) — The death recently of big Dan Blocker inevitably means important changes in "Bonanza" next September. Blocker, one of the original cast members when the series started on NBC 13 years ago, was the series' star most likely to handle its comedy shows. He was the one with special appeal to the younger viewers.

The producers have a number of options in trying to plug the huge hole left in the show by the actor's death. It seems likely, however, that a new, important character will be introduced so that the heavy acting load involved in a weekly hour-long series can be split up.

Blocker's death at age 43 comes at a time when the series is to be moved from its familiar Sunday night berth into a Tuesday night niche—an important and potentially hazardous shift for any series. "Bonanza" needs all the help it can muster to make the transition with audience intact.

MOVIES SUNDAY

(4) (7) (31)—6:30 Movie—"A Dandy in Aspic." Laurence Harvey, Mia Farrow. Double-agent, Alexander Eberlin, pits his cunning against British Intelligence.

(11)—7:30 Movie—"College Holiday." Jack Benny, Burns and Allen. Comedy about a manager of a bankrupt hotel who brings college kids there to liven things up.

(2) (17)—8:00 Movie—"The Caper of the Golden Bulls." Stephen Boyd, Yvette Mimieux. Charming ex-safecracker is blackmailed into re-employing his skills in order to rob the bank of Spain during Pamplona's famed Festival of San Fermin.

(2)—10:15 Movie—"Man in the Gray Flannel Suit." Gregory Peck, Jennifer Jones. Study of a public relations man, of many moods—his wife, his home life, his job, his reaction to knowledge of son, result of romantic interlude in Italy during war.

(20)—10:30 Movie—"Gunsight Ridge." Joel McCrea, Mark Stevens, Joan Weldon, Addison Richards. Series of holdups in Arizona Territory rouses citizens. New fighting deputy uncovers "respectable" citizen as gang leader and faces him to a draw.

(4)—10:30 Movie—"The Enforcer." Humphrey Bogart, Zero Mostel, Everett Sloane. A racket-buster hits with impact in a story as sensational as the headlines that created it.

(4)—12:05 Movie—"Undercover Girl." Alexis Smith, Scott Brady, Richard Egan. Girl becomes a policewoman to track down her father's killer.

(4)—1:35 Movie—"Vice Squad." Edward G. Robinson, Paulette Goddard. An "ordinary" day in the life of a captain of detectives.

(4)—3:00 Movie—"F.B.I. Girl." Audrey Totter, George Brent, Cesar Romero, Tom Drake, Raymond Burr. A clerk is used for "bait" to obtain evidence on a mob. The climax is an exciting helicopter chase.

"HEIDI" TO BE REBROADCAST

Part I of "Heidi," the internationally beloved story about a young girl whose charm and honesty effect an apparent miracle, will be rebroadcast on "The CBS Children's Film Festival" noon to 1 p.m. Saturday, June 3, on the CBS Television Network. Part two will be presented noon to 1 p.m. Saturday, June 10.

REBROADCAST SERIES BASED ON THURBER WORKS

The delightful, fantasy-filled world of popular humorist James Thurber will be highlighted in "My World and Welcome to It," Emmy-winning half-hour film - and - animation comedy series starring William Windom, to be presented on the CBS Television Network this summer, beginning Thursday, June 1 (7-7:30 p.m.). The series consists of selected rebroadcasts of episodes previously presented on another network.

Windom also received an Emmy for his role of John Monroe, an overly imaginative cartoonist-writer who populates his world with fantasy people and cartoons brought to life. Joan Hotchkis plays his wife Ellen. Lisa Gerritsen, who also appears on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" on the network, portrays their daughter Lydia.

Harold J. Stone portrays Monroe's editor, Hamilton Greeley, and Henry Morgan makes frequent guest appearances as Jensen, a character suggested by the relationship between Thurber and another great humorist, Robert Benchley.

Greene Heads MS Drive

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lorne Greene of television's "Bonanza" series has been named National Campaign Chairman for the Multiple Sclerosis Hope Chest Drive.

"THE GOVERNOR AND J.J." RETURNS FOR SUMMER

Dan Dailey and Julie Sommars return to the CBS Television Network for the summer in specially selected rebroadcasts of their delightful comedy series, "The Governor and J.J.," starting Friday, June 2 (9:30-10 p.m.).

Dailey made his television debut in the series, portraying the governor of a small mid-western state who, in addition to his elected responsibility, also has to supervise the activities of a somewhat unpredictable daughter.

Siss Sommars co-stars as the governor's daughter, J.J., who works as assistant curator of a zoo while also fulfilling the role of her father's first lady at official functions—press conferences, dedications and formal social events.

Also starring in the series are Neva Patterson as the governor's proficient and attractive secretary, Maggie McLeod, and James Callahan as the chief executive's hard-working press aide, George Callison.

Jaecel Signs

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — This year's best supporting Oscar nominee Richard Jaecel has signed for a continuing role in the new NBC series, "Banyon," scheduled to make its debut in the fall.

Bob Reiner

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Bob Reiner, who plays the meat-head son-in-law of "All in the Family," signed with Metromedia for the development of comedic properties for prime-time network programming.

When Ted Knight of "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" on the CBS Television Network arrived in Hollywood in 1957, he sent out 400 brochures to producers. "I got exactly three replies," he says.

Narcotics Case Continued; 2 Pay Traffic Fines

William L. Craddock, 24 of 825 N. Main, charged with unlawful possession of marijuana, appeared briefly in court Friday afternoon for a preliminary hearing of his case.

Upon agreement by State's Attorney Richard Norris and the defendant's attorney, Judge John B. Wright ordered a continuation of the case. No definite date was set for reappearances in court.

Craddock was returned to Morgan county jail where he is being held under $10,000 bond.

In other court action, Judith A. Finch, 32, route two, entered a guilty plea to a charge of failure to yield right of way. She was ordered to pay a fine of $25 and $10 court costs.

Judge Wright accepted a plea of guilty from Alfred W. Meier, 33, of 860 North Church on two traffic violations. Meier was assessed fines of $15 and $10 court costs for failure to yield and $50 and $10 court costs for an invalid driver's license.

A reckless driving charge against Ralph A. Hamners, 18, of 425 W. Chambers was dismissed on a motion by the state's attorney.

DAR Chapter Gives Pathway Scouts A Flag

A flag was recently presented to the newly organized Boy Scout Troop at Pathway School. The gesture was made by the Rev. James Caldwell Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, through its flag of the United States of America chairman, Miss Lillian Carter, and Americanism and citizenship chairman, Mrs. Earl J. Meyers.

Pathway's troop is No. 10 and the first such organized for the handicapped in the four-county area of Cass, Morgan, Scott and Greene, which comprises the Honest Abe District of the Abraham Lincoln Council.

The Scout program is part of the school program, with meetings held Tuesdays. Leaders are Miss Mary Riemann and other staff members. There are 14 members, six Cub Scouts and eight Boy Scouts. This is an adapted program, its objective being to challenge the mentally retarded and to allow them to achieve, also to teach love and proper respect for the flag.

PIKE JAYCEES TO SELL BARBECUE THIS SUNDAY

PITTSFIELD — The Pittsfield Jaycees will hold their annual chicken barbecue Sunday, May 23, on the sidewalk by Spurgeon's Store. Barbecued chicken halves, cole slaw and baked beans will be ready by 11 a.m. Tickets may be purchased from any Jaycee member. Home delivery may be requested with advance ticket purchases.

Stores to Close
Pittsfield stores will be closed Monday, May 29, in observance of Memorial Day.

Glass Collection
The glass collection center, sponsored by the Junior Parental Society, will be open every Monday and Thursday from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The center is located on Benson Street between North Monroe and North Jackson. Mrs. F. J. Swope has donated the use of a white shed to be used by the Junior Parentals for their conservation program.

Mrs. Vada Austin and Mrs. Robert Adams, co-chairmen of the project, ask citizens to rinse out the glass jars and bottles and remove all lids and metal rims before bringing them to the collection center. The Bergman Meat Packing Co. will provide large barrels for storage of the glassware and the Parental Society will deliver them to the Owens-Illinois Glass Works Co. in Alton. The Society will receive $20 a ton or one cent per pound for the glassware they deliver. The money will be used for the many community service projects it supports.

There will be no home pick-up service nor will the Junior Parental Society be responsible for accidents.

Bertha Stock, 80, Of Arenzville Dies Friday

ARENZVILLE — Mrs. Bertha Mae Stock, 80, a rural Arenzville resident, died at 9 p.m. Friday at her home.

She was born Aug. 18, 1891 near Chapin, the daughter of William and Margaret Ratliff Brockhouse.

She married Philip Stock Feb. 28, 1912. He died in 1957.

Surviving are two daughters, Margaret Crawford of Jacksonville and Ruth Stock, who lives at the family home; four sons, Charles of Virginia, Warren, Robert and Dean Stock of Arenzville.

Twenty-two grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren also survive.

A son, Paul, preceded her in death.

She was a member of the Arenzville United Methodist church.

The body was taken to the Williamson Funeral Home where funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Official State Newspaper Bids To Be Taken

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Competitive bids will be taken to determine the official state newspaper, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie announced Friday.

The contract has been awarded without bidding in the past. The Illinois State Journal in Springfield now holds the contract.

Under state law, all bids, contracts, purchases and other obligations of the state must be advertised at least three times in the official newspaper. The advertising is estimated to amount to more than $55,000 a year.

Competing newspapers must have an average of 20,000 daily circulation six days a week, singly or in combination with another newspaper published under a joint masthead. This limits the bidding to about 27 newspapers for the one-year contract beginning July 1.

ROTARIANS CLEAN CITY SQUARE PARK AT ROODHOUSE

ROODHOUSE — John Finnell, president, conducted the Wednesday night meeting of the local Rotary club held at the American Legion Home.

The Rev. Harry Evans, Jacksonville, was a visiting Rotarian.

Following the dinner furnished by Mrs. Doris McEvers and Mrs. Mildred Dawdy, Myron McClenning, program chairman, invited the men to an evening of service at the City Square Park, where they spent the time pruning the bushes and cleaning the park generally.

Wesleyan Grad
Larry L. Ballard graduated with a bachelor of science degree in business administration May 21 from Illinois Wesleyan University at Bloomington. He has accepted a position with the Ford Motor Credit Co. branch office in Hinsdale, and will report there June 1.

Attending the commencement at Bloomington were Larry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ballard, Gary and Dale. Gary is also a student at the university.

Suit Challenging Adoption Laws

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Supreme Court Friday honored an adoption challenge by putting the rights of fathers of illegitimate children on the same level with those of other parents.

The court ordered a Cook County Circuit Court to reconsider its bar to a father's attempt to gain custody of his illegitimate child. The child had been put out for adoption by a licensed agency.

The state court ruled unconstitutional those parts of the Illinois Adoption and Paternity Acts denying the father of an illegitimate child the right to a hearing in an adoption case.

The court said it followed a United States Supreme Court decision in April. That decision said equal protection principles were violated by state laws that deny a hearing to determine the fitness of a father for custody of his children born out of wedlock, while extending this right to other parents.

The ruling came on an appeal by Paul Peter Slawek. He said the Convention Children's Home knew he was the father of the child but did not give Slawek notice of the proceeding by Larry and Eleanor Moreland to adopt the child. The mother had consented to the adoption.

Cass Resident Goes To Jail For Contempt

A 25-year-old Beardstown man was found in contempt of court by Judge John B. Wright and ordered to spend eight hours in the Morgan county jail.

Charles Hawk, 25, of Beardstown was jailed at 11 a.m. Friday on the contempt citation for failure to appear at least three previous times in a citation on a lawsuit involving a civil matter.

Hawk was released at 7 p.m. and ordered to make a later appearance in Morgan county circuit court.

In other court action, Judge Gordon Seator presided over several traffic matters.

Mary F. Birdsell, 35, of 504 North Church entered a plea of guilty to a charge of having no valid operator's license and was fined $100 and $10 court costs.

Rodney A. Frederick, 20, of Table Grove pleaded guilty to theft and was ordered to pay a fine of $25 and $15 court costs. He was charged in connection with a shoplifting incident at Walgreen's.

Wendell Petefish, 46, of Waverly forfeited $25 bond on a charge of permitting an unauthorized person to drive. He did not appear in court.

Phillip A. Davis, 22, of 802 East College pleaded innocent to a charge of no valid registration and was scheduled for a bench trial June 1 at 10 a.m.

Anita C. Osborne, 15, of 544 Brooklyn pleaded guilty to no valid operator's license and was fined $25 and $10 costs. She appeared with her father.

Claude F. DeCamp, 28, of Route 1 entered a plea of guilty to a charge of failure to yield the right of way and was fined $25 and $10 costs.

Helen V. Morris of Jacksonville had her arraignment continued to June 2 on a charge of deceptive practice. The case was continued to permit her time in which to hire an attorney.

AUTOMOBILE CRASH ON DUNLAP COURT

City policemen investigated an automobile collision on Dunlap Court, in front of the City Gardens, about 4:50 p.m. Friday.

Officers said a car driven by Leda B. Lewis, 59, of 426 Pendick, backed into an automobile operated by Ruth E. Standberry, 19, of 810 Clay Ave. No tickets were issued.

STOLEN AUTOMOBILE RECOVERED FRIDAY

City policemen Friday night recovered an automobile stolen Thursday from Ruby Bridges of 1100 N. Clay Ave.

The 1963 Chevrolet was found near East Cemetery. Police returned the automobile, which apparently was not damaged, to Ms. Bridges.

HOLTMAN BROTHER SURVIVES

In a previously published account of survivors of Pete Holtman, the name of a brother, Ed of Beardstown, was unintentionally omitted. His sister, Mrs. Mandy Neatrath, and six step grandchildren also survive.

Parade Monday In Jacksonville

Plans were announced Friday for the annual Memorial Day Parade in Jacksonville by Cliff Jones, parade chairman for Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1379.

The parade will form Monday at 10:30 a.m. at the corner of West State and Church Streets. Organizations or persons who would like to march in the parade are invited to do so according to Mr. Jones.

The parade will march off at 11 a.m. led by the Jacksonville High School Marching Band under the leadership of James Welch.

The parade will move along West State to the Public Square where brief ceremonies will be held honoring deceased veterans and others.

Rev. William Sturgess, pastor of Central Christian church, will be the featured speaker and Rev. Charles Puckett, pastor of Westfair Baptist church, will give the benediction.

Brief military ceremonies will be held in the park conducted by VFW Post 1379 in cooperation with all other veterans' organizations in Jacksonville.

The graves of deceased veterans will be decorated with flags for the Memorial Day weekend by local veterans' groups.

The VFW Post 1379 will decorate the graves in Jacksonville East cemetery; Amvets Post 100 will decorate graves in Diamond Grove cemetery; and members of World War I Barracks 385 will decorate graves in Calvary cemetery.

The graves will be decorated on Saturday and Sunday, prior to Memorial Day.
